Ruby Seeks Venue Change

Intensive Mental Exams Scheduled

DALLAS (AP)—Jack Ruby's defense team will return to court Feb. 10 to argue that his murder trial should be transferred out of Dallas because of "general animosity against him."

Meanwhile, Ruby will undergo an intensive mental examination conducted by a three-man panel of psychiatrists agreed upon by Dist. Judge Joe B. Brown.

Chief defense lawyer Melvin Belli said he was pleased over court developments Tuesday, which resulted in creation of the panel but failed to gain Ruby his freedom on bond.

Another result was delay of Ruby's murder trial on a charge of killing Lee Harvey Oswald, the pro-Marxist accused of assassinating President John F. Kennedy.

Brown said if he rules against a change of venue Feb. 10, the trial of the 52-year-old strip joint operator will begin Feb. 17. Otherwise, he will choose a new site and date for the trial.

The trial had been scheduled to begin Feb. 3.

The defense suddenly dropped its attempt to get Ruby freed on bond after the court agreed to appoint the team of psychiatrists.

Brown held a long afternoon conference with prosecution and defense lawyers and stated afterward that the psychiatrists' report must be evaluated in court, subject to argument from both sides.

"The jury will have to decide whether Ruby is sane or insane," Brown emphasized.

Defense counsel sought throughout the hearing to show that Ruby was a man with brain damage that would make him capable of killing without knowing it.

Girl, 10, To Have Baby Soon

CHICAGO (AP) — Doctors have confirmed that a 10-year-old girl, described by her fourth grade teacher as "quiet, timid and small," will become a mother in about two weeks.

The child was placed in care of a foster family at the age of 3, following her mother's death. Police said she named a 16-year-old boy, a member of the foster family, as the father-to-be. All are Negroes.

The physician who confirmed teachers' suspicions said the girl's pregnancy "is so innocent that motherhood is incomprehensible." He added:

"When I told her she is going to have a baby, she asked, 'A real one?' She's up there (in her room) cutting out paper dolls. She cries a lot. She wonders what's going to happen to her and her baby."

The doctor said Catholic charities will take care of the girl after the baby's birth.

The youngest girl to have given birth to a baby who survived was a 5-year-old in Peru in 1939. The baby was born by Caesarean section.

Quiet Restored To Tanganyika

DAR ES SALAAM, Tanganyika (AP) — Tanganyika's President Julius Nyerere, seeking to calm a turbulent situation, says the mutiny by army units Monday was a small incident.

With relative quiet restored in Dar es Salaam, the capital, Nyerere appealed to the nation in a broadcast Tuesday night not to repeat the "great shame" of looting and wrecking that followed the revolt.

Nyerere asked the East African nation of 9 million not to panic in the aftermath of violence that killed at least 14 persons and injured scores.

New Twist Enters Into Shooting of Store Proprietor

A new twist on the shooting of a Fairfield County store owner on Oct. 7, 1963, unfolded last night at Circleville Police headquarters.

A Stoutsville area man, seemingly bothered by his conscious, told officers he and two other men were involved in the robbery attempt and near fatal shooting of George Justus, owner of a general store on Route 22 about one mile east of the Pickaway - Fairfield County line. His statement further entangles the case in that the Fairfield County Grand Jury has already indicted a Ross County man in connection with the shooting.

The statement was made by Cecil E. Greeno, 27. His brother, Fred, 24, was one of three men picked up here by Circleville Police shortly after the shooting on Oct. 7.

Robert E. Holcomb, 20, Route 1, Chillicothe, one of the three men apprehended, allegedly admitted firing the gun. He was indicted by the Fairfield Grand Jury. He is still being held for trial, according to authorities here.

THE THIRD person picked up the same night of the shooting was Robert Levan, 369 Weldon Ave. He was 16 at the time.

The new angle to the case came to a head when Cecil Greeno phoned police headquarters and told officers he wanted to make a statement in reference to the Justus shooting. During the investigation that followed, Greeno said he did not want his brother to stand trial for something he (Cecil) did. Greeno went on to tell Sgt. Roderick List and Patrolmen Wesley Barton and Tom Davis that he and a man by the name of Howard Billard of Columbus and a third man he knew only as "Don" were the ones who attempted the robbery.

Greeno, telling how he was low on money and that Bill-

Glenn Asks Akronite To Direct Drive

AKRON, Ohio (AP)—John H. Glenn Jr. has asked Don Luffman, a 36-year-old Akron insurance executive, to manage his senatorial campaign, the Akron Beacon Journal said today.

Luffman, district manager for Nationwide Insurance, would make no comment. He did, however, say he spent many hours last weekend in Columbus with Glenn, whom he met for the first time there Sunday.

Luffman and Akron Mayor Edward Erickson, whose successful campaign Luffman managed in 1961 and 1963, were delegates to the Ohio Democratic pre-primary convention in Columbus.

Luffman was a classmate of Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy at the University of Virginia and first attained political prominence here by managing the Kennedy campaign in Summit County in 1960. Luffman never has held or run for public office, but is a major contender for the Summit County Democratic Party chairmanship.

The Beacon Journal said it had learned Nationwide Insurance, headed by Murray Lincoln who has played a prominent role in Democratic politics for years, has agreed to give Luffman a 10-month leave, and that Glenn expects to get his campaign going by March 1.

Hoffa Trial Notes RFK

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn. (AP)—Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy's name pops up almost as often as James R. Hoffa's as lawyers try to pick a jury for the Teamsters Union president's trial on a charge of jury tampering.

Six persons had been tentatively accepted as the trial of Hoffa and five others entered its third day today. The pace quickened after U.S. Dist. Judge Frank Wilson threatened Tuesday to take over the questioning unless attorneys acted "more expeditiously."

Kennedy's name came up repeatedly during examination of jury candidates by defense lawyers. One of them, Jacques Schiffer of New York, said Kennedy once boasted he would have Hoffa "in jail in 1964."

James F. Neal, Justice Department attorney from Washington, insisted Kennedy made no such statement.

Memorial Medal to JFK Put on Sale

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — The President Kennedy Memorial Medal was issued from suburban Englewood today in cities throughout the United States.

The medals are produced by Presidential Art Medals, Inc., which has been making coins and other medals at Englewood since 1961.

Max Humbert, president of the firm, said 15,000 serially numbered silver medals bearing a likeness of the late President have been produced.

Some 6,500 of these already are committed to regular customers, Humbert said. They sell for $15. Humbert said a limited issue of bronze medals, selling for $5, also went on sale.

The medals were designed, with President Kennedy's approval, as fund-raising medals which were to have been used in Kennedy's 1964 presidential campaign.

The only changes in the original design, Humbert said, is the addition of the symbolic eternal flame and the birth and death dates of the late President.

The firm produces medals commemorating all 35 U. S. presidents and has White House approval to produce the Kennedy medal.

Humbert said the number of bronze medals to be produced depends upon demand for them.

Methodist Sermon Piped to Catholics

SHEBOYGAN, Wis. (AP) — Church Unity Week, as celebrated in Sheboygan, included an unexpected development.

The sermon of the Rev. Dr. T. Parry Jones, pastor of the First Methodist Church, was delivered to the congregation at St. Peter Claver Roman Catholic Church last Sunday.

The Rev. Robert Hoeller said the public address system at St. Peter's picked up Dr. Jones' address.

"I'm delighted that I had an opportunity to preach to Father Hoeller's congregation," said Dr. Jones.

"I will be happy to give him equal time."

Antimissile System Eyed

Nike-X Future Is under Study

WASHINGTON (AP) — This may be the year a decision for the Nike-X antimissile system.

If President Johnson and Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara decide to permit production, it could mean spending ultimately as much as $20 billion.

Defense officials, discussing the new military budget, said "we are not far enough along on Nike-X to make any decision" for procurement or deployment of the antimissile system.

But, they said, "it is possible that decision can be made, pro or con, during calendar 1964."

Meanwhile, work in the Nike-X will go forward on a priority basis.

For this, the budget provides more than the $325 million allotted last year to start development of the Nike-X and to continue testing the companion Nike Zeus antimissile.

It was only a year ago that the late President John F. Kennedy approved the Nike-X project and the indications are that progress has been swift.

"We will get some test results in the course of calendar 1964," officials said.

Informed sources reported a key element in the Nike-X system—a superfast missile called Sprint—would be test fired for the first time in April or thereabouts.

The Army will have to overcome the skepticism of McNamara and Dr. Harold Brown, the Pentagon's research and engineering director.

Kennedy reflected their doubts last August when he told a news conference he thought the problems of developing an effective defense against missile attack "is beyond us and beyond the Soviets technically."

Johnson has not spoken publicly on this point, but it is likely he would abide by the advice given him by McNamara.

Dayton Area Shop Center Hit by Fire

DAYTON, Ohio (AP)—A roaring general-alarm fire destroyed four stores of the Page Manor shopping center near Wright-Patterson Air Force Base early today.

No injuries were reported. Unofficial estimates put the damage at $200,000.

Observers said Levitt's Cocktail Lounge, the Manor Clothes Store, Jim Miller's Page Manor Furniture and the vacant Holiday House toy store were reduced to rubble.

Firemen from three departments fought the blaze for an hour and a half before they considered it under control. Two other stores sustained some damage.

The billowing smoke swept toward the air base, but officials said it did not hamper flight operations.

Firemen from the base, Mad River Twp. and Dayton responded to the call.

Base Fire Chief William Payne said a fire wall between two of the buildings helped stop the fire from spreading even further.

The blaze was discovered at the rear of Levitt's Lounge by an employee of Pantorium Cleaners which has an outlet in the shopping center.

Circleville 'Mylar' Included In Construction of Echo II

If all goes well Friday, another Circleville-made product will be in orbit.

The world's largest man-made moose, designated Echo II satellite, has something in common with the local Du Pont plant. The "Mylar" utilized in construction of the huge sphere was made here.

According to local plant spokesmen, the 13-story high satellite construction includes 35 gauge "Mylar" which was manufactured here. They said the local product will be sandwiched between two layers of aluminum for rigidity purposes.

According to information available, the "Mylar" was made here, then forwarded on to various agencies for erection of the final product.

THE LAUNCHING, originally scheduled tomorrow, has been set for Friday. The satellite will be lofted at Vandenberg Air Force Base, Calif.

Echo II will be successor to the spectacular Echo I balloon which was orbited in 1960. "Mylar" used in this satellite also was produced by the Circleville Du Pont plant.

The famous Echo I is still in orbit, outliving all expectations for its term of life. It has traveled millions of miles.

The Echo II will be 135 feet in diameter. Its predecessor was 100 feet in diameter.

U. S. Space agency officials say this country and Russia have agreed to use the new balloon in their first joint experiments in talking via satellite.

U.S., Canada To Sign Pacts

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson and Canada's Prime Minister Lester B. Pearson conclude two days of talks today with a show of harmony—the signing of two U.S.-Canadian pacts.

One is an agreement designed to carry out the aims of the Columbia River Treaty. That treaty, signed three years ago, called for U.S. and Canadian development of the vast river system which crosses the boundary in the Pacific Northwest.

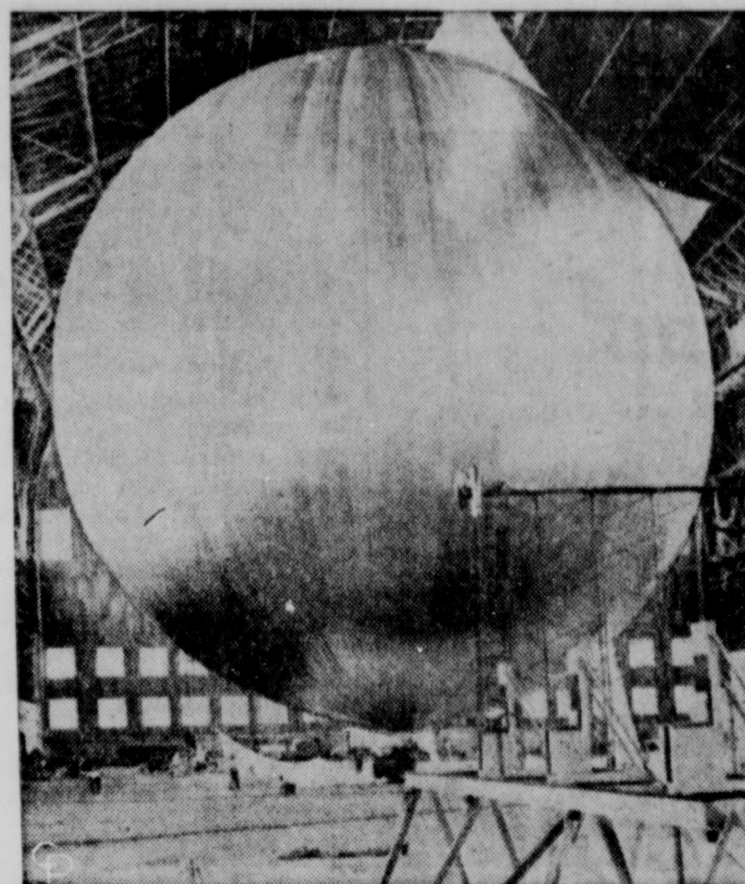

Under the implementing agreement, to be signed at the White House, Canada is expected to get some $300 million for her share of downstream power to be developed in the United States and for U.S. food control benefits from Canadian reservoirs.

The second pact is an agreement for an international park at Campobello, The Canadian island summer home of President Franklin D. Roosevelt.

Baby Doctors Fooled By Stork's Timing

DENVER (AP) — Mrs. Marshall Williams, 25, rose early Tuesday and went to the hospital because "I just knew my baby was coming."

The doctors told her it wasn't time yet. She returned home. Two hours later, a taxi was called for a second trip. Her husband delivered the baby girl in the back seat of the cab.

HUGE SATELLITE — Echo II is shown inflated at Lakehurst, N. J., before launching at Vandenberg Air Force Base, Calif. The Soviet is joining the U. S. in tracking experiments, "the first important step toward peaceful co-operation in space," says NASA. The 13-story-high inflatable satellite will orbit nearer Earth than predecessors and "is expected to be seen by more persons than any man-made object in the history of the world." Note tiny of people in the photo.

Could Test Ban Stall Building Of New Canal?

WASHINGTON (AP) — If the United States decides to build a second canal in Central America in the near future, using nuclear blasts to move the earth, it almost certainly would have to get the agreement of the Soviet Union and about 50 other nations.

But if the much-discussed new waterway paralleling the disputed Panama Canal is built a few years from now the Soviets may no longer have the power of veto under the limited nuclear test-ban treaty signed in Moscow last summer.

It all depends on what the scientists call "the state of the art" of using nuclear explosives for excavations.

This is the consensus among government officials, including legal experts, whose views have been canvassed for answers to the question:

Does the Soviet Union have the power under the test-ban treaty to block canal construction with nuclear explosives?

The question arises because the cost of a big ditch somewhere in the Central American isthmus would be far less if nuclear power were used than if conventional explosives had to be employed. Official estimates are that a nuclear excavation to provide a new link between the Atlantic and Pacific oceans could run as low as $500 million. If the job were done with dynamite and other blasting materials the estimated cost would exceed $2.5 billion.

Sometime next month the Joint Senate-House Atomic Energy Committee plans to hold hearings on the feasibility of using nuclear explosives for a new canal. But apart from what is technically possible at this stage in view of the problems of radioactivity there is the question of the United States commitments under the test-ban treaty.

"We would have to get Russian agreement," said Rep. Chet Holifield, D-Calif., senior House member of the joint committee, "and they're not likely to give it willingly."

Diplomats are not certain that the Soviets would raise insuperable objections.

Secretary of State Dean Rusk told the Senate Foreign Relations Committee last August that he thought the United States might get word from the Soviets at some point "that they themselves want to use an underground explosion for a particular peaceful uses purpose."

Medical Group Chieftain, Dr. Spock Back Medicare

WASHINGTON (AP) — Dr. Kenneth W. Clement of Cleveland, president of the National Medical Association, urged today that medical care be provided for the aged as a part of the Social Security System.

The National Medical Association includes some 5,300 physician members, most of them Negroes. The American Medical Association, which includes most of the physicians in the country, is opposed to the proposal.

Clement said in testimony prepared for the House Ways and Means Committee that such a program would not harm the doctor-patient relationships. He also said it would increase high quality medical care.

The committee also was urged by Clement to insure that benefits be made available to all, without regard to race, religion or national origin.

Clement said Ohio was an example of a state which failed to implement the Kerr-Mills Act, which became law a few years ago, to provide assistance to the aged.

Under existing Ohio programs he said, the average age of the elderly assisted by the state in meeting health care needs is 80

Reply Awaited On Curb Plan

U.S. Would Freeze Delivery Systems

GENEVA (AP)—Western and neutral delegates at the 17-nation disarmament conference expressed confidence today that the Soviet Union is studying President Johnson's new arms control proposals with exceptional interest.

The President, in a message read at the conference's resumption Tuesday, proposed a verified freeze on the number and specifications of nuclear delivery systems—missiles, submarines, planes and the like—and a controlled cutoff in the production of nuclear materials for weapons.

Some delegates believed two less spectacular proposals by Johnson had better chances of a favorable Soviet reaction. These called for agreement to prevent the spread of nuclear weapons to nations that don't have them and a system of observation posts to prevent accidental war or surprise attack.

These in general coincided with two points proposed by Soviet delegate Semyon K. Tsarapkin as part of a seven-point program of negotiations, but agreement was not complete.

Johnson, for example, worded his proposal to ban the transfer of nuclear weapons so that it would not apply to the multilateral nuclear force proposed for the North Atlantic Alliance. Tsarapkin called for prevention of the spread of nuclear weapons to multilateral forces as well as to individual nations.

Johnson's proposals for the first time broke up the huge and complex package of general disarmament, long deadlocked in the two-year-old conference. A general disarmament treaty still is the ultimate goal, but the U.S. proposals are preliminary measures which might start the powers toward a comprehensive treaty.

The U.S. proposals also included a treaty to outlaw the use or threat of force and subversion, and a new effort to ban underground nuclear weapon tests, excluded from the limited test ban treaty.

There was no immediate indication of the Soviet response. The first indication may come in the next meeting of the conference, on Thursday.

Thousands Still Visit JFK Grave

WASHINGTON (AP) — They still come by the thousands to the peaceful slope overlooking the capital where John F. Kennedy lies buried.

Some pray. Some leave flowers. Some just stand silent with their thoughts. Some just come to be brushed by history, to say they've been there.

It was just two months ago today that he was assassinated, and three years and two days after he was inaugurated as the 35th and youngest president of the United States.

A spring-like rain and a warming sun had melted away most of the mantle of snow that had covered Arlington National Cemetery and the open hillside where the eternal flame burns over his grave.

Fresh evergreen boughs covered the base of the flame. There, on the boughs, were the military caps of the Army, Navy, Air Force, Marines and special forces, tossed there the day they buried the commander-in-chief.

Among the boughs, too, were a rolled-up piece of paper tied with white ribbon, a bouquet of pink carnations, a nosegay of white chrysanthemums tied with red ribbon that faded pink on the snow.

Each evening, after cemetery gates are closed, the soldiers take from the boughs all the remembrances that people bring. They are put in a box to be given to the Kennedy family.

Mostly the visitors just stand there and look at the grave with sorrow in their eyes.

The trees were bare, and the long white rows of gravestones cast long shadows.

The jet planes droned overhead, and across another hill taps sounded for another man who had fought for his country and died.

According to local plant spokesmen, the 13-story high satellite construction includes 35 gauge "Mylar" which was manufactured here. They said the local product will be sandwiched between two layers of aluminum for rigidity purposes.

According to information available, the "Mylar" was made here, then forwarded on to various agencies for erection of the final product.

THE LAUNCHING, originally scheduled tomorrow, has been set for Friday. The satellite will be lofted at Vandenberg Air Force Base, Calif.

Echo II will be successor to the spectacular Echo I balloon which was orbited in 1960. "Mylar" used in this satellite also was produced by the Circleville Du Pont plant.

The famous Echo I is still in orbit, outliving all expectations for its term of life. It has traveled millions of miles.

The Echo II will be 135 feet in diameter. Its predecessor was 100 feet in diameter.

U. S. Space agency officials say this country and Russia have agreed to use the new balloon in their first joint experiments in talking via satellite.

U.S., Canada To Sign Pacts

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson and Canada's Prime Minister Lester B. Pearson conclude two days of talks today with a show of harmony — the signing of two U.S.-Canadian pacts.

One is an agreement designed to carry out the aims of the Columbia River Treaty. That treaty, signed three years ago, called for U.S. and Canadian development of the vast river system which crosses the boundary in the Pacific Northwest.

Under the implementing agreement, to be signed at the White House, Canada is expected to get some $300 million for her share of downstream power to be developed in the United States and for U.S. food control benefits from Canadian reservoirs.

The second pact is an agreement for an international park at Campobello, The Canadian island summer home of President Franklin D. Roosevelt.

Baby Doctors Fooled By Stork's Timing

DENVER (AP) — Mrs. Marshall Williams, 25, rose early Tuesday and went to the hospital because "I just knew my baby was coming."

The doctors told her it wasn't time yet. She returned home. Two hours later, a taxi was called for a second trip. Her husband delivered the baby girl in the back seat of the cab.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Dr. Kenneth W. Clement of Cleveland, president of the National Medical Association, urged today that medical care be provided for the aged as a part of the Social Security System.

The National Medical Association includes some 5,300 physician members, most of them Negroes. The American Medical Association, which includes most of the physicians in the country, is opposed to the proposal.

Clement said in testimony prepared for the House Ways and Means Committee that such a program would not harm the doctor-patient relationship. He also said it would increase high quality medical care.

The committee also was urged by Clement to insure that benefits be made available to all, without regard to race, religion or national origin.

Clement said Ohio was an example of a state which failed to implement the Kerr-Mills Act, which became law a few years ago, to provide assistance to the aged.

Under existing Ohio programs he said, the average age of the elderly assisted by the state in meeting health care needs is 80

Could Test Ban Stall Building Of New Canal?

WASHINGTON (AP) — If the United States decides to build a second canal in Central America in the near future, using nuclear blasts to move the earth, it almost certainly would have to get the agreement of the Soviet Union and about 50 other nations.

But if the much-discussed new waterway paralleling the disputed Panama Canal is built a few years from now the Soviets may no longer have the power of veto under the limited nuclear test-ban treaty signed in Moscow last summer.

It all depends on what the scientists call "the state of the art" of using nuclear explosives for excavations.

This is the consensus among government officials, including legal experts, whose views have been canvassed for answers to the question:

Does the Soviet Union have the power under the test-ban treaty to block canal construction with nuclear explosives?

The question arises because the cost of a big ditch somewhere in the Central American isthmus would be far less if nuclear power were used than if conventional explosives had to be employed. Official estimates are that a nuclear excavation to provide a new link between the Atlantic and Pacific oceans could run as low as $500 million. If the job were done with dynamite and other blasting materials the estimated cost would exceed $2.5 billion.

Sometime next month the Joint Senate-House Atomic Energy Committee plans to hold hearings on the feasibility of using nuclear explosives for a new canal. But apart from what is technically possible at this stage in view of the problems of radioactive activity there is the question of the United States commitments under the test-ban treaty.

"We would have to get Russian agreement," said Rep. Chet Holifield, D-Calif., senior House member of the joint committee, "and they're not likely to give it willingly."

Diplomats are not certain that the Soviets would raise insuperable objections.

Secretary of State Dean Rusk told the Senate Foreign Relations Committee last August that he thought the United States might get word from the Soviets at some point "that they themselves want to use an underground explosion for a particular peaceful uses purpose."

Reply Awaited On Curb Plan
U.S. Would Freeze Delivery Systems

GENEVA (AP)—Western and neutral delegates at the 17-nation disarmament conference expressed confidence today that the Soviet Union is studying President Johnson's new arms control proposals with exceptional interest.

The President, in a message read at the conference's resumption Tuesday, proposed a verified freeze on the number and specifications of nuclear delivery systems—missiles, submarines, planes and the like—and a controlled cutoff in the production of nuclear materials for weapons.

Some delegates believed two less spectacular proposals by Johnson had better chances of a favorable Soviet reaction. These called for agreement to prevent the spread of nuclear weapons to nations that don't have them and a system of observation posts to prevent accidental war or surprise attack.

These in general coincided with two points proposed by Soviet delegate Semyon K. Tsarapkin as part of a seven-point program of negotiations, but agreement was not complete.

Johnson, for example, worded his proposal to ban the transfer of nuclear weapons so that it would not apply to the multilateral nuclear force proposed for the North Atlantic Alliance. Tsarapkin called for prevention of the spread of nuclear weapons to multilateral forces as well as to individual nations.

Johnson's proposals for the first time broke up the huge and complex package of general disarmament, long deadlocked in the two-year-old conference. A general disarmament treaty still is the ultimate goal, but the U.S. proposals are preliminary measures which might start the powers toward a comprehensive treaty.

The U.S. proposals also included a treaty to outlaw the use or threat of force and subversion, and a new effort to ban underground nuclear weapon tests, excluded from the limited test ban treaty.

There was no immediate indication of the Soviet response. The first indication may come in the next meeting of the conference, on Thursday.

Relay 'Moon' Now in Orbit

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — A new U.S. communications satellite, Relay 2, circled the earth today and may be joined Friday by another, the giant Echo 2 balloon, as scientists seek the best space system for worldwide radio, television and telephone coverage.

Relay 2 shot into orbit from Cape Kennedy Tuesday atop a three-stage Delta rocket.

On the satellite's first orbit, radio communications and a television test pattern were beamed to it from Mojave, Calif. The satellite immediately transmitted the signals back to Mojave and to a station at Nutley, N.J.

The Stoutsville man said he stayed in the car while Billard and the man called "Don" went into the store. He said the two came out a little later and that Billard told him he shot a man in the store and did not get any money or merchandise.

The Fairfield County Sheriff's Department now faces the task of putting the pieces together. Greeno, along with the statement made here, was turned over to Sheriff Jack Blazier at 12:30 a. m. today.

JUSTUS, 72, remained in critical condition several days after the shooting. However, he eventually recuperated and was returned home.

According to officials here, the gun used in the shooting was never found, nor has Justus positively identified Holcomb as the man who fired the shot.

The bullet which struck Holcomb was identified as being fired from a 38 caliber weapon. According to information available here, Cecil Greeno has claimed a 45 caliber gun was used.

Greeno, in his statement last night, said Billard supposedly was employed at a roller bearing firm in Columbus. Fairfield authorities today indicated that the company concerned had no record of an employee by that name.

Mrs. Dorothy Rhodes, 708 S. Clinton St., named Charles Glenn Hammond, 1338 S. Court St., as defendant in the action involving her daughter, a minor.

News of World in Brief

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The Ohio AFL-CIO today backed up Willard P. Dudley, administrator of the Bureau of Unemployment Compensation, in his efforts to have the federal government restore a cut in the bureau's administrative funds.

The labor group said there was some merit in the protest of Dudley over the slash in the bureau's budget, but added that the present situation "at the BUC was partly precipitated by earlier layoffs under the so-called 'austerity' program of the Rhodes administration."

EASTON, Conn. (AP)—Mrs. Walter R. Whitman was embarrassed when the burglar alarm went off as she opened her front door to a caller Tuesday night.

Mrs. Whitman, who had set the alarm because she was alone, hastily turned it off. Then the well dressed, clean-cut visitor, who had introduced himself as an insurance salesman, pulled a gun, police said.

Mrs. Whitman slammed the door, ran back and turned the alarm on again. The caller fled.

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—Grady Brumfield was nine Tuesday. His family planned a birthday party Tuesday night to help him celebrate.

Grady went to school but was let out early because he'd finished his tests for the day.

On his way home, the boy, son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Brumfield of suburban Metairie was struck and killed by an automobile. Two schoolmates said he ran into the path of the vehicle.

SAIGON, Viet Nam (AP)—Three American military personnel were slightly wounded today when a U.S. Air Force C47 developed engine trouble on takeoff and made a crash-landing near Saigon, a U.S. military spokesman said.

LIBREVILLE, Gabon (AP)—President Leon M'ba has dissolved Gabon's national assembly in an effort to cut expenses in this West African country.

M'ba said another assembly with fewer members would be elected but he did not set the election date.

School Boards In County Reorganized

Pickaway County superintendent of Schools George D. McDowell, announced the reorganizational meetings of all county school boards have been completed.

At Teays Valley, Orville Dountz, Orient, has replaced Harold Hines as president of the board, while Everett Beers of Ashville took over as vice president. The clerk of the Teays Valley board is Mrs. Esther Duvall, of Ashville. Mrs. Duvall is not a member of the board.

Other members are Joe Vause, Gene Tosca and Orlan Hines, all Ashville residents.

Logan Elm's new president is Neil Morris, Kingston, who replaces Orley Judy. David Bolender, Route 4, has been retained as vice president. The clerk is Lawrence McKenzie, who is a member of the board. Other members are Arthur A. Leist, Stoutsville, and Wesley Graves Jr., Kingston.

Raymond Reiterman, Mt. Sterling, was retained as the president of the Westfall board. Hoyt Martin was elected vice president. Other board members are Dr. Paul Fenstermaker, and Mrs. Shirley Bowser, both of near Williamsport, and Troy McPherson of Derby.

Brice Connell of Derby has been retained as Clerk of the board.

The Logan Elm board meets the first Monday of each month, the Teays Valley board meets the second Monday of each month and the Westfall board meets the third Monday of each month.

SARA M. DRESBACH

Mrs. Dresbach Files for Clerk's Post

A third person has entered the May primary party nominations race for Pickaway County Clerk of Courts.

Sara M. Dresbach, veteran deputy clerk of courts, yesterday filed signature petitions with the Board of Elections declaring herself a candidate for the Republican nomination.

Mrs. Dresbach is the first GOP candidate to file for the office. Two Democrats, Ernie Weiler and Roger Bowers, filed their petitions several days ago.

She has served as deputy in the Clerk of Courts office since Aug. 15, 1951. She worked 16 months under A. L. Wilder and more than 11 years for James H. Mowery, the present office holder.

MRS. Dresbach started as a deputy in the automobile title department where she worked for about five years. She was then transferred to the legal department.

In December 1956 she was appointed chief deputy clerk and in recent years has been attending court sessions for Clerk Mowery.

The GOP candidate is a native of Pickaway County, a graduate of Williamsport High School, member of the Pickaway County Women's Republican Club and a member of the Ohio Clerk of Courts Assn.

Mrs. Dresbach, the former Sara Dewey, is married to Ned E. Dresbach. They reside at 160 McCrea Ave.

Fire Chief Bernard Wolfe said classes on proper procedures to follow in case of fire would be available to all local rest homes upon request.

Relay 'Moon' Now in Orbit

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — A new U.S. communications satellite, Relay 2, circled the earth today and may be joined Friday by another, the giant Echo 2 balloon, as scientists seek the best space system for worldwide radio, television and telephone coverage.

Relay 2 shot into orbit from Cape Kennedy Tuesday atop a three-stage Delta rocket.

On the satellite's first orbit, radio communications and a television test pattern were beamed to it from Mojave, Calif. The satellite immediately transmitted the signals back to Mojave and to a station at Nutley, N.J.

First intercontinental public television demonstration via Relay 2 had been scheduled today by the United States Information Agency. But it was called off because of what officials termed "logistic difficulties" in arranging a planned exchange of greetings between U.S. and Japanese government officials.

President Johnson reportedly was to have appeared on the U.S. segment.

A USIA spokesman said the program may be rescheduled at a later date. Meanwhile, continuing technical tests with the satellite were described as excellent.

Echo 2, successor to the spectacular Echo 1 balloon which orbited in 1960, is scheduled for launching from Vandenberg Air Force Base, Calif., Friday. It is to expand to a diameter of 135 feet in space, and the United States and Russia have agreed to try to bounce signals off its aluminum skin. It would be their first joint experiment in talking via satellite.

Relay 2, an active communications satellite, built by RCA, and Echo 2, which has no electronic parts and serves only as a reflector of signals, are different approaches in a U.S. effort to determine the most effective type of satellite for a global space communications system.

Most experts believe an eventual network will consist of three to six satellites similar to the Syncom 2 payload launched last year. Syncom satellites orbit 22,300 miles high, where their relative speeds match that of the earth and they appear to hover over one spot.

The higher altitude poses many technical problems, but most engineers are confident they can be overcome.

Berger Names Nurse Head

Miss Dorothy Lutz, of near Amanda, has been named director of nursing service at Berger Hospital, according to Miss Ellen Leist, administrator.

Miss Leist has been serving the hospital in a dual capacity since her appointment as administrator. The new head of nursing service assumed her duties Monday.

Miss Lutz received her training at Grant Hospital School of Nursing, Columbus. She has been on the Columbus hospital staff for the past 17 years.

lard was about to go to jail for being behind on his alimony, said they talked about "knocking off" some place. He said he pointed out the Justus store.

The Stoutsville man said he stayed in the car while Billard and the man called "Don" went into the store. He said the two came out a little later and that Billard told him he shot a man in the store and did not get any money or merchandise.

The Fairfield County Sheriff's Department now faces the task of putting the pieces together. Greeno, along with the statement made here, was turned over to Sheriff Jack Blazier at 12:30 a. m. today.

JUSTUS, 72, remained in critical condition several days after the shooting. However, he eventually recuperated and was returned home.

According to officials here, the gun used in the shooting was never found, nor has Justus positively identified Holcomb as the man who fired the shot.

The bullet which struck Holcomb was identified as being fired from a 38 caliber weapon. According to information available here, Cecil Greeno has claimed a 45 caliber gun was used.

Greeno, in his statement last night, said Billard supposedly was employed at a roller bearing firm in Columbus. Fairfield authorities today indicated that the company concerned had no record of an employe by that name.

Founding Father

Benjamin Franklin lived to a grand old age, but he has been dead a long time. If he were alive, he would celebrate his 258th birthday on Jan. 17. Among the Founding Fathers, he was the outstanding exemplar of the quality of sturdy American common sense. But he was much more besides.

His rags-to-riches career is right in the national tradition. He was scientist, philosopher, diplomat, inventor, legislator, postmaster, printer, publisher, author; founder of the American Philosophical Society, the University of Pennsylvania, and, in a sense, of the Saturday Evening Post. He had a great gift for friendship and human understanding.

He was in the fullest sense a founder of America. He sought to compose differences with Britain. But he loyally

Saturation Point

If you are one of those persons who dislike being solicited by salesmen on the telephone perhaps you should buy a pair of ear muffs. Two young Hollywood inventors have developed a machine which will automatically make 50,000 telephone calls without so much as a human hand on the dial.

What's more, if your line is busy or you don't answer, the robot will call you back. What it will say to you depends upon what has been transcribed on its tape recorder, but the inventors gleefully see a wide field for their product.

Just imagine salesmen basking in the California sunshine while their messages are being spread throughout

Balancing Act

Inasmuch as one does not have to belong to a political party in the U. S. to take part in the great game of proposing candidates for important office, I might as well give President Lyndon Johnson some wholly unsolicited advice about choosing a proper running mate.

I am quite aware that this sort of thing can be done by anybody who has watched a high-wire balancing act at the circus. Lyndon Johnson is a Texan, a Southerner, a liberal-conservative (or conservative - liberal), a Protestant, a self-made man, a person who (like F.D.R.) picks brains by listening rather than by reading. So anyone can see that the Democratic candidate for Vice President ought to come from the Middle West (Senator Humphrey, Senator Eugene McCarthy, or Peace Corps boss Sargent Shriver), or from California (Governor Pat Brown), or from the Northeast (New York City's Mayor Wagner). Then there are the Kennedy cachet, money and organizing power to consider (Bobby Kennedy or Sargent Shriver as an in-law). There is religion (McCarthy, Wagner, Bobby Kennedy and Shriver are Catholics, good for the big city vote where Catholics are in the majority). And Eugene McCarthy and Bobby Kennedy have bph written books.

The desire for "balance" on a ticket is not to be derided, provided ability is not overlooked.

He was also a great apostle of thrift. In his will he left $5,000 each to the cities of Boston, where he was born, and Philadelphia, where he spent most of his life. He provided that these sums be left to gather interest for 100 years, after which most of the amount was to be spent for some public work, while the rest was to grow further.

Balancing Act

Inasmuch as one does not have to belong to a political party in the U. S. to take part in the great game of proposing candidates for important office, I might as well give President Lyndon Johnson some wholly unsolicited advice about choosing a proper running mate.

I am quite aware that this sort of thing can be done by anybody who has watched a high-wire balancing act at the circus. Lyndon Johnson is a Texan, a Southerner, a liberal-conservative (or conservative - liberal), a Protestant, a self-made man, a person who (like F.D.R.) picks brains by listening rather than by reading. So anyone can see that the Democratic candidate for Vice President ought to come from the Middle West (Senator Humphrey, Senator Eugene McCarthy, or Peace Corps boss Sargent Shriver), or from California (Governor Pat Brown), or from the Northeast (New York City's Mayor Wagner). Then there are the Kennedy cachet, money and organizing power to consider (Bobby Kennedy or Sargent Shriver as an in-law). There is religion (McCarthy, Wagner, Bobby Kennedy and Shriver are Catholics, good for the big city vote where Catholics are in the majority). And Eugene McCarthy and Bobby Kennedy have bph written books.

The desire for "balance" on a ticket is not to be derided, provided ability is not overlooked.

ERIC HAWKINS, long-time managing editor of the Paris Herald, tells of an interview James Thurber reluctantly granted that paper when he visited the French capital in the late thirties. "I remember Paris," mused Thurber, "when there were only 78 daily newspapers here instead of 102 as at present, and lots of people had to go without anything to read. The franc in those days wasn't where it is now and neither was the Rue St. Honore. I kept driving around for hours yesterday looking for the Rue Honore, but I never could find it. I kept winding up at the Place des Pyramides where glimmers the famous statue of Joan of Arc. 'My Lord,' said my wife finally, 'is there nothing but Joans of Arc and golden horses in this town?'"

Speaking of YOUR HEALTH...

By LESTER L. COLEMAN, M.D.

When a doctor takes an electrocardiogram, what can he learn from this?

L.L.M., Oregon
Dear Mr. M.: The electrocardiogram is a machine which accurately records the electric waves that constantly pass over every part of the heart muscle.

An electrocardiogram is the actual tracing made by the electrocardiograph machine.

The earliest machine was brilliantly devised in 1903 by Dr. Willem Einthoven of the Netherlands. Since then, many modifications have been made which add to its accuracy in diagnosis of heart conditions.

Physicians, highly trained in reading the electrocardiogram, or EKG, can determine the activity of the normal and the sick heart by the character of the minute "photographic recording."

The rate of the heart beat, irregularities of the heart beat, intervals between contraction (systole) and relaxation (diastole) of the heart muscle, are only some of the important data revealed by this delicate machine.

The pattern of the electrocardiogram is vital as an indication of the severity of a heart attack and the particular part of the muscle that had been affected.

As the patient begins to recover and the heart is on the mend, the heart muscle once again starts to transmit healthier electric impulses. The electrocardiogram picks up these messages so that the doctor can follow every stage of recovery.

The electrocardiogram, in conjunction with the clinical examination, often determines exactly when the patient can once again return to relatively normal activity.

Rheumatic heart disease, congenital (birth) deformities of the heart, and many other cardiac conditions are detected any time from early infancy, to adolescence or adulthood.

The electrocardiogram is a valuable tool, but one that cannot replace the judgment and the clinical evaluation of the attending doctor.

Can you tell me what the difference is between cortisone and ACTH? Are they exactly the same? Can they be dangerous if taken for a long time?

Speaking of YOUR HEALTH...

L.C., California
Dear Mr. C.: All hormones produced by the glands of internal secretion are related to each other for healthy body function.

ACTH derives its name from a adrenocorticotrophic hormone which is produced by a portion of the tiny pituitary gland in the brain.

Cortisone is a hormone produced in the small adrenal gland which lies adjacent to the kidney.

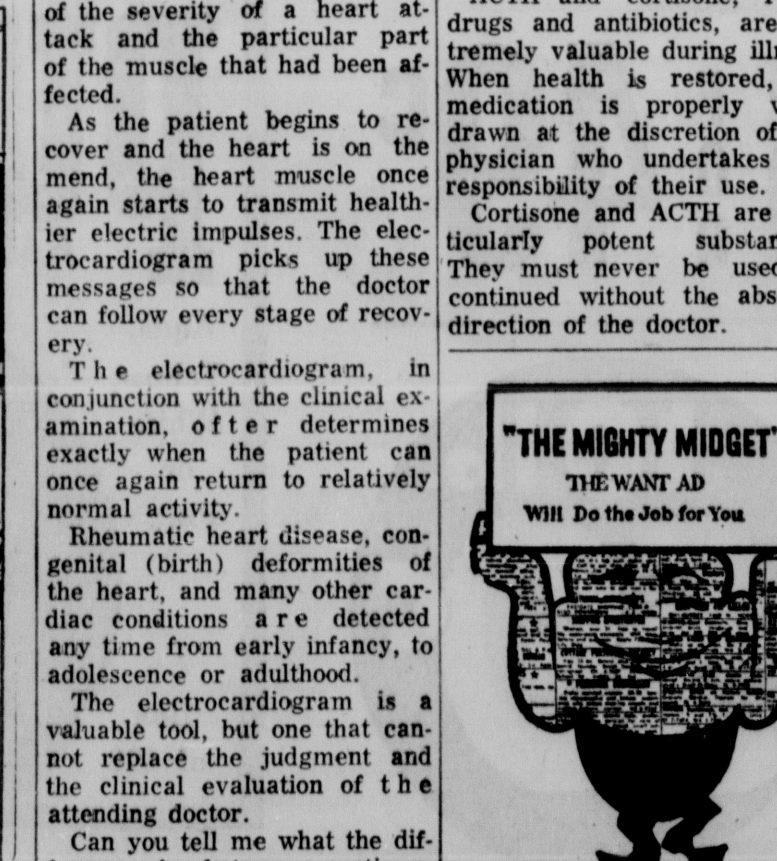

The relationship between ACTH (pituitary) and cortisone (adrenal) is extremely complicated. These hormones are high-powered messengers which constantly relay information from one hormone gland to another.

Water, salt, blood pressure, protein, and sugar contents are kept in constant balance by these and other hormones. There is no organ, tissue, or joint in the body that is not in some way affected by increases and decreases in the amounts of ACTH and cortisone that circulate in the blood.

ACTH and cortisone, like drugs and antibiotics, are extremely valuable during illness. When health is restored, all medication is properly withdrawn at the discretion of the physician who undertakes the responsibility of their use.

Cortisone and ACTH are particularly potent substances. They must never be used or continued without the absolute direction of the doctor.

NEW YORK (AP)—Something new is about to happen to mankind.

I'll soon be 53 years old, an age when the birthday candles are beginning to cost more than the cake.

One of my youthful associates, when I mentioned my forthcoming anniversary, said, "Tell us, Grandpa, what it is like to be a living mossback in your own time?"

Well, sir, by cracky, the view through your bifocaled windows on the edge of 53 is like this:

Life insurance fellows quit trying to sell you on new 20-year endowment policies.

When you open the newspaper, you turn first to the obituary page to see who lost before turning to the sports page to see who won.

It takes you longer to clear your throat when you wake up in the morning.

The face you see in the mirror when you shave looks more like your father and less like you.

You grumble because it costs you more now to have a pair of shoes resoled than you paid for the shoes when you went to high school.

Every promise a present politician makes leads you to recall another promise a past politician failed to keep.

The Business World

NEW YORK (AP)—American businessmen actively engaged in foreign trade foresee a moderate improvement this year in the chronic U.S. balance of payments deficit to just under $2 billion. They expect both exports and imports to rise to new highs.

President Johnson's budget proposals may aid in this in the final six months of the year. He is asking Congress for $3.4 billion in new foreign aid funds in the fiscal year starting July 1, the lowest request since 1948. And, more importantly perhaps he is promising further economies in other forms of dollar outflows from government programs.

The businessmen's estimates of increased trade also seem in line with the President's assessment of gains to be achieved in upcoming trade negotiations.

"The United States' 30-year campaign to reduce barriers to world trade will reach a climax in 1964. United States industry and agriculture are in excellent condition to seize the new opportunities offered by trade liberalization and to weather the adjustments that may be required."

The businessmen's prediction of a $1.9-billion deficit in 1964—the seventh consecutive deficit in the nation's international accounts—is contained in the 13th annual outlook report of the balance of payments group of

Founding Father

Benjamin Franklin lived to a grand old age, but he has been dead a long time. If he were alive, he would celebrate his 258th birthday on Jan. 17. Among the Founding Fathers, he was the outstanding exemplar of the quality of sturdy American common sense. But he was much more besides.

His rags-to-riches career is right in the national tradition. He was scientist, philosopher, diplomat, inventor, legislator, postmaster, printer, publisher, author; founder of the American Philosophical Society, the University of Pennsylvania, and, in a sense, of the Saturday Evening Post. He had a great gift for friendship and human understanding.

He was in the fullest sense a founder of America. He sought to compose differences with Britain. But he loyally supported the Revolution, helped revise the Declaration of Independence to its present form, and gave valuable aid in getting financial support abroad when the war would have been lost without it.

He was also a great apostle of thrift. In his will he left $5,000 each to the cities of Boston, where he was born, and Philadelphia, where he spent most of his life. If you are one of those persons who dislike being solicited by salesmen on the telephone perhaps you should buy a pair of ear muffs. Two young Hollywood inventors have developed a machine which will automatically make 50,000 telephone calls without so much as a human hand on the dial.

What's more, if your line is busy or you don't answer, the robot will call you back. What it will say to you depends upon what has been transcribed on its tape recorder, but the inventors gleefully see a wide field for their product.

Just imagine salesmen basking in the California sunshine while their messages are being spread throughout the country, or a politician who now will be able to shake hands in the western part of the state while his voice goes out to thousands of homes in the eastern half.

Public opinion polls will really come into their own. The inventors, Jeff Schottenstein and Joe Fischer, say their creation can reach 130,000 persons while present rating methods are reaching only 1,200.

the thing you most yearn to achieve is to see the first robin of spring.

You can remember more clearly the ruinous beauty of the girl you loved so desperately in kindergarten than the one you wooed and lost in college.

At the office you tend to discredit the views of any coworker who doesn't have a 25-year pin in his lapel.

You become reconciled to the fact that there are only two real wonder drugs—aspirin and sodium bicarbonate.

But if anyone asks you what is the best age in life, you have no doubt of the answer—it's the age you are. No one really knows what living is until he is almost 53. Everything before is only preamble.

NEW YORK (AP)—American businessmen actively engaged in foreign trade foresee a moderate improvement this year in the chronic U.S. balance of payments deficit to just under $2 billion. They expect both exports and imports to rise to new highs.

President Johnson's budget proposals may aid in this in the final six months of the year. He is asking Congress for $3.4 billion in new foreign aid funds in the fiscal year starting July 1, the lowest request since 1948. And, more importantly perhaps he is promising further economies in other forms of dollar outflows from government programs.

"The United States' 30-year campaign to reduce barriers to world trade will reach a climax in 1964. United States industry and agriculture are in excellent condition to seize the new opportunities offered by trade liberalization and to weather the adjustments that may be required."

The businessmen's prediction of a $1.9-billion deficit in 1964—the seventh consecutive deficit in the nation's international accounts—is contained in the 13th annual outlook report of the balance of payments group of the National Foreign Trade Council.

The group of foreign traders and bankers estimates the 1963 deficit at $2.6 billion, as measured by the annual changes in U.S. gold and convertible currency holdings and in liquid liabilities.

The 40 experts see exports of commercial goods rising to $22.7 billion in 1964 from $21.7 billion in 1963, and imports going to $18 billion from the 1963 figure of $16.9 billion. This would give a neat $4.7-billion trade surplus for the United States, about the same as last year.

Whittling down this trade surplus will be foreign aid spending, costs of military forces abroad, government loans and private capital investment abroad.

But the United States will also gain from income on its private investments abroad and by charges for services.

The group figures that altogether the United States will send $34.9 billion abroad and get $33 billion back. The resulting $1.9-billion deficit would be a welcome drop from the $3.9 billion in 1960, and the $3.7 billion in 1959.

In his report to Congress the President stresses "continued price stability and export promotion to maintain or improve the competitive position of our exports."

The foreign traders agree that the danger of the United States pricing itself out of world markets is less important today than formerly. They see as this year's chief competitive factors increasing technological advances abroad and the ability of foreign manufacturers to deliver goods more rapidly.

Miss Brown, Mr. Myers Are United in Marriage

Miss Bonnie J. Brown, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Warren E. Brown, 227 East Main Street, Ashville, and A-2 Harold W. Myers, son of Mrs. Lillian Myers and the late Mr. Lester Myers, were united in marriage 7:30 p. m. Jan. 3 in the Lockbourne Air Force Base Chapel.

Chaplain Clinton E. Wendland performed the double ring ceremony.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a street length dress of white brocade. Her shoulder length veil was caught to a white velvet headpiece. She carried a Bible, a gift from her grandmother, topped with a bouquet of white carnations and lily of the valley.

Attendant for the bride was Miss Carol Pritchard. She wore a red velvet sheath dress with a matching circlet veil and her corsage was white carnations. A 2-C Richard Morse served as best man.

A reception was held at the home of the bride's parents. The couple took a short wedding trip to southern Ohio.

The new Mrs. Myers, a registered nurse, is a graduate of Riverside White Cross School of Nursing. Mr. Myers is serving his second enlistment with the United States Air Force and is currently stationed at Lockbourne Air Force Base. They reside in Ashville.

Mrs. Macklin Presents Guild Program

Mrs. George Macklin hosted members of Berger Hospital Guild No. 12 Monday evening at her home located at historical Camp Charlotte.

Following a tour of the house and antique shop Mrs. Macklin presented the program on the subject, "Refinishing Antique Furniture". She showed several pieces in various stages of refinishing and explained the method used on each. Mrs. Macklin quoted from two books by George Grotz, "The Furniture Doctor" and "From Gunk to Glow". She gave his experience with lye, wood alcohol, varnish removers and other methods of finish removal and showed the results on her own pieces. Mrs. Macklin said that old finishes are always different requiring different methods of removal. She explained, too, that while lye is preferred for many woods it tends to darken walnut. She also said that she frequently gets excellent results from scraping the finish off with a piece of broken glass or a piece of flexible steel.

Mrs. Eldon DeLong, chairman, presided during the business meeting. It was reported that most of the chemical logs made by the group for sale at the General Guild Bazaar have now been sold, either at the Bazaar or afterward. Future projects were discussed.

The next meeting will be held on Feb. 24, in the home of Mrs. Sterling Poling.

Variety Sewing Club Convenes

Mrs. Andrew Goeller, 1040 Atwater Ave., was hostess when members of the Variety Sewing Club Monday evening.

Mildred Wolfe won the travel prize. Following the business meeting the evening was spent sewing.

Mary K. Wolfe will be hostess for the next session.

A dessert course was served to Mrs. Manley Carothers, Mrs. Henry McCrady, Mrs. Nelson Lape, Mrs. Montford Kirkwood, Mrs. Leora Sayre, Miss Katherine Bockart, Mrs. Cary Shasteen and Miss Wolfe.

DINE IN ELEGANCE — This costume for an evening at home is from the Galanos spring collection in New York. The sheer, green, wool jersey jerkin, with the designer's new, squared-off V-neckline, tops a brilliant, multi-color striped silk skirt that reaches the floor, and has a side slit to mid-calf.

BPW Club Meeting Scheduled Tomorrow

The Business and Professional Women's Club will meet 7:30 p. m. tomorrow in the Methodist Church annex.

Couple Plans To Observe 70th Wedding Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Bert Wiggins, Laurelville, will observe their 70th wedding anniversary Friday at their residence.

They were married Jan. 24, 1894, in a church in Pike Run near Laurelville. Both are members of the Pentecostal Church.

Mrs. Wiggins, the former Edna Seitz and daughter of the late William and Caroline Randall Seitz, was born on Pike Run. She was 83 last Nov. 26.

Mr. Wiggins was born in Hocking County, the son of Henry and Catherine Fetherolf

Wiggins. He will be 90 on Feb. 25. He was a farmer all his life until retiring several years ago.

They are the parents of 12 children. They are: Gerald and Carl Wiggins, both of Circleville; Umberto Wiggins, Amanda; Mrs. Gladys Woodgeard and Mrs. Magdalene Tisdale, both of Whisler; Mrs. Vivian Thompson, Laurelville; Mrs. Fay Tisdale, Londonderry; Chloe Wiggins, South Bloomingville; Mrs. Dessie Knox, Columbiana; three children are deceased.

Mr. and Mrs. Wiggins have approximately 100 grandchildren, 50 great-grandchildren and several great-great-grandchildren.

Ashville EUB Sunshine Class Meets

The Sunshine Class of the Ashville EUB Church met Thursday evening in the home of Mrs. Russell Costlow, Route 1, Ashville.

Wylma Wardell, president, presided during the business session. Frances Grant read Scripture followed by prayer and the theme song, "Count Your Blessings."

Members turned in their donation toward the Rev. and Mrs. Morgan's trip to the Holy Land. New entertaining calendars were to be made by the class and future meetings were scheduled for the third Thursday of each month. A news reporter was named and two members for the Adult Work Council of the Sunday School were selected.

Russell and Mary Costlow showed movies of their vacation last summer throughout the west. Prizes were won by Maude Plummer, teacher, and Donna Foreman.

Lunch was served by Mary Costlow, Wylma Wardell and Ernestine Craig.

Others present were Pearl Fortner, Frances Smith, and Hazel Ward.

Twenty years ago my brother was killed in World War II. When his body was sent home for burial my poor mother had to face many cruel and thoughtless people who told her that the coffin was probably filled with rocks instead of a body because some of the boys were blown to bits, and there was nothing to send home. Costly Errors Possible In Filing 1963 Return

EDITOR'S NOTE — You can commit costly errors in filing a return on 1963 income if you do not understand how to figure your tax. Here are the ground rules to follow in working out your tax. This is the third of five special articles.

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press Writer

You may save on your 1963 income tax return by understanding the rules that apply to people figuring their own tax and the rules on husbands and wives, including their exemptions.

If your income was $5,000 or more you must figure your tax. You will find the tax rate which fits you in one of the schedules in the instruction sheet sent taxpayers by the Internal Revenue Service.

People with under $5,000 income, without figuring, can find their tax in a table also contained in the instruction sheet. They can also figure their own if for some reason, like big deductions, they save by it.

The rules on the three tax rate schedules:

Single persons and married couples filing separately must use schedule No. 1, which has the highest tax rate.

Married people filing a joint return, and certain widows and widowers use Schedule No. 2, which has the lowest tax rate.

Unmarried or legally separated people who qualify as "head of household" use schedule No. 3, which provides a lower tax than No. 1 but higher than No. 2.

Some rules on husbands and wives:

A husband and wife must both sign a return for it to be joint. A wife with $600 of income must, like anyone else with that much income, file a return, separately or jointly with her husband.

Most couples save by filing jointly because they can use schedule No. 2 with its lowest tax rate. In some special cases they save by separate returns, even though they have to use schedule No. 1, with its highest rate. If in doubt, figure your tax both ways.

Exemptions: $600 for yourself when you file a return and are under 65; $1,200 if you are over 65; an additional $600 if you're blind at any age. You get the same exemptions for your wife if she fits the rules.

If you're under 65 and had a taxable income of $600 or more you must file a return. If you're over 65 you don't have to file unless your income was $1,200 or more. The same goes for your wife.

When a husband and wife file jointly, each claims a $600 exemption on that joint return. If you and your wife file separately, you each claim your own $600 exemption on your separate returns.

When you file separately, both must accept the standard deduction without itemizing or, if one itemizes, then both must itemize and use Form 1040.

A single person or a couple filing jointly are allowed a standard deduction of 10 per cent of their income up to a limit of $1,000 for nonbusiness expenses.

This doesn't apply for married couples filing separately. In that case on their separate returns each can take the standard deduction of 10 per cent of income up to a limit of $500.

A wife without income doesn't have to file jointly with her husband or at all. The husband can file his own return and, in addition to his own $600 exemption, claim $600 for his wife. But he must use schedule No. 1.

If a no-income wife files jointly with her husband, each claims a $600 exemption on that joint return. And then both use schedule No. 2 with its lowest tax rate.

A wife with taxable income under $600 does not have to file a return. But now a special rule comes into force:

If a wife had any income at all, even though under $600, you can't claim a $600 exemption for her unless she files jointly with you. If she does, you use schedule No. 2. If she doesn't then you, filing separately, must use Schedule No. 1.

If she had under $600 income but files jointly with you, each of you must report your individual income but you can each claim a $600 exemption and use schedule No. 2.

Suppose a married couple file separate returns in 1962 and 1963 but now realize it cost them more than if they had filed jointly. They can correct the mistake by filing an amended joint return for those two years.

You were considered married for all of 1963 if you got married as late as Dec. 31, 1963. You were considered divorced for all of 1963 if you were divorced as late as Dec. 31, 1963.

You cannot claim an exemption for your divorced wife even though you paid more than half her support in 1963.

Rules on widows and widowers: If your wife or husband died in 1963—and you did not remarry—in general you can claim a $600 exemption for her or him on your return—filed as a joint return—and use schedule No. 2.

If she had income you must report it on your return.

You can also use schedule No. 2—even though your wife or husband died in 1962 or 1961—if you fit these requirements:

You must have been entitled to file a joint return with her for the year of her death; you have not remarried; you have a child or stepchild who qualifies as your dependent; and you furnish over half the cost of your home which is the principal residence of your child or stepchild.

If these conditions fit you, you can use schedule No. 2, listing your own income, exemptions and deductions. But you cannot claim an exemption for your deceased wife.

Rules on head of household: You can use schedule No. 3 if you fit these requirements:

You were unmarried or legally separated at the end of 1963 or were married by the end of 1963 to someone who for part of the year was a nonresident alien; you must have furnished over half the cost of your home which was the main residence for the year of yourself and your unmarried child, stepchild or grandchild, even though not a dependent of yours, or of any other relative you can claim as a dependent; or, if you paid more than half the cost of maintaining a home for your mother or father, if either can qualify as your dependent.

But you cannot claim you maintained a home for a parent if you were paying for him or her in a home for the aged.

Erie Depot Closing Said A Year Away

PORT CLINTON, Ohio (AP)—Col. A. W. Stoddard, commander of the Erie Army Depot here says it will be at least a year before any operations of the depot, earmarked to be closed, are transferred to other stations.

Stoddard said officials from Letterkenny Army Depot in Chambersburg, Pa., were here last week to obtain data for working out a plan to shift part of the operations, personnel and material. The plan must be approved by the Department of the Army.

The stock control function at the depot will be transferred during February 1965, Stoddard said, being divided between three national inventory control points—the Army Tank Automotive Center, Detroit; Army Weapons Command, Rock Island, Ill., and Army Missile Command, Huntsville, Ala.

Supply personnel will begin moving January 1965 with the period between April and July 1966, the commander explained. These transfers will be to Letterkenny and New Cumberland Army Depot, also in Pennsylvania.

Some maintenance personnel will begin moving to Letterkenny this July, Stoddard said.

The Erie Depot employs more than 1,900 civilians and covers more than 1,200 acres just west of here. The Defense Department announced in December that the depot would be phased out over a three-year period as part of a modernization of the Army's supply system.

Bosworth Speaker At Kiwanis Meet

Orley Bosworth of the local Beaver Studio was guest speaker at this week's meeting of the Circleville Kiwanis Club.

Bosworth told of his trip to Washington D. C. where he covered the burial ceremonies for President John F. Kennedy. He told first hand many of the events that were seen on television by millions of viewers.

Bosworth and his wife, Adrienne, accompanied Gov. James Rhodes on the flight to Washington for the burial ceremony. Gov. Rhodes visited with President Lyndon Johnson during the visit.

Gift to Then-Senator Johnson Linked to Bobby Baker Probe

WASHINGTON (AP)—A local insurance agent has sworn to Senate investigators that in 1959 he gave a stereo set costing over $500 to Lyndon B. Johnson at the suggestion of former Senate aid Robert G. Baker.

President Johnson at that time was the Senate Democratic leader and Baker was secretary to the Senate Democratic majority.

The story of the gift of the stereo set was told to the Senate Rules Committee in a closed session by Don B. Reynolds, who described Baker as associated with his insurance agency. The committee made the testimony public Tuesday.

Reynolds said he paid $542.25 for the stereo set and another $42.50 to have it installed in Johnson's home.

Reynolds also told about a $200,000 insurance policy issued on Johnson's life.

Along with the transcript of Reynolds' testimony, the committee made public a statement from Walter Jenkins, a close associate of the President's, saying he was informed that "the alleged gift of a record player to Mr. and Mrs. Johnson... was a present from Robert G. Baker."

Jenkins also said he was positive he had never heard from any source "that there was a business connection between Robert G. Baker and Don Reynolds in the insurance agency operated by Mr. Reynolds or that Reynolds had any connection whatever with the record player gift."

Baker resigned under fire Oct. 7 from his $19,600-a-year Senate post. The committee is investigating whether he engaged in outside business dealings that conflicted with his official duties or involved other improprieties.

At the White House, press secretary Pierre Salinger, when asked to comment on the Reynolds testimony said:

"Mr. Jenkins' statement which is part of the record makes it very clear the President never had any conversation with Mr. Reynolds and considered it a gift from a long-time employee."

Asked if Johnson did not receive an invoice which listed Reynolds as the buyer of the equipment, Salinger said, "I'm standing on the statement I made. I think it was very explicit."

The bulky transcript of Reynolds' recent closed-door testimony, plus a variety of documentary evidence, showed that the committee's special counsel, L. P. McLendon, asked Reynolds:

Was this stereo set bought by you and delivered to Mr. Johnson's house at the suggestion of Baker?

Reynolds: Yes, sir.

McLendon: Did you have any communication whatever with the senator about it?

Reynolds: No, sir.

McLendon: Either before or after you sent it to him?

Reynolds: No, sir.

Reynolds said too that he had never discussed it with Jenkins.

The statement from Jenkins was in the form of a memorandum of an interview that McLendon and the committee's chief investigator, W. Ellis Meehan, had with Jenkins last Dec. 11 at the Executive Office Building next door to the White House.

Jenkins signed a sworn statement that he had read the memorandum, and that the statements in it were true to the best of his knowledge and belief.

Reynolds testified that in order to meet a competitive bid by a rival insurance firm during 1961 negotiations for the insurance on Johnson's life, he agreed to purchase advertising time on a television station owned by the BJ Co. in Austin, Tex.

The BJ Co. is a holding company in which Mrs. Johnson is the principal stockholder. She has placed her stock in trust since Johnson became president.

Reynolds said the advertising took about a $1,100 bite out of his commissions on the insurance. He estimated the commissions at around $5,000 on policies totaling $200,000 on which he said approximately $80,000 of premiums have been paid to date by the BJ Co. which bought the insurance. Two $50,000 policies were purchased in 1957, and a $100,000 policy in 1961, to make up the $200,000 total, Reynolds said.

Johnson had suffered a heart attack in 1955.

Reynolds was asked by Sen. Claiborne Pell, D-R.I., whether it was usual to make side arrangements in connection with the sale of insurance.

"I have never been asked by any other clients, sir to do so," Reynolds replied.

The exchange continued: Pell: But in this case the suggestion was made to you not by the client, but by Mr. Baker?

Reynolds: The advertising time was requested by Mr. Jenkins. The stereo was by Bobby, sir.

Reynolds said he never considered that either the advertising or the stereo gift was a rebate of premiums, a practice he said generally is prohibited.

"I never considered it rebating, but an effort to further business for myself, sir," Reynolds said.

Jenkins denied ever suggesting to Baker or Reynolds that the BJ Co. should get any sort of rebate from the commissions received by Reynolds.

The memorandum of the interview with Jenkins brought out that Jenkins said he thought

Baker had handled the procurement of a temporary $175,000 fire insurance policy on the home Johnson bought here in June 1961 after Johnson became vice president.

Jenkins said his recollection was that he and Johnson were on a trip around the world when the house was purchased and a $175,000 binder policy was obtained until permanent fire insurance could be arranged.

The memorandum quoted Jenkins as saying he thought Baker handled the procurement of this policy "as a courtesy" to Johnson while Johnson and Jenkins were both out of the country.

Erie Depot Closing Said A Year Away

PORT CLINTON, Ohio (AP)—Col. A. W. Stoddard, commander of the Erie Army Depot here says it will be at least a year before any operations of the depot, earmarked to be closed, are transferred to other stations.

Stoddard said officials from Letterkenny Army Depot in Chambersburg, Pa., were here last week to obtain data for working out a plan to shift part of the operations, personnel and material. The plan must be approved by the Department of the Army.

The stock control function at the depot will be transferred during February 1965, Stoddard said, being divided between three national inventory control points—the Army Tank Automotive Center, Detroit; Army Weapons Command, Rock Island, Ill., and Army Missile Command, Huntsville, Ala.

Supply personnel will begin moving January 1965 with the period between April and July 1966, the commander explained. These transfers will be to Letterkenny and New Cumberland Army Depot, also in Pennsylvania.

Some maintenance personnel will begin moving to Letterkenny this July, Stoddard said.

The Erie Depot employs more than 1,900 civilians and covers more than 1,200 acres just west of here. The Defense Department announced in December that the depot would be phased out over a three-year period as part of a modernization of the Army's supply system.

Bosworth Speaker At Kiwanis Meet

Orley Bosworth of the local Beaver Studio was guest speaker at this week's meeting of the Circleville Kiwanis Club.

Bosworth told of his trip to Washington D. C. where he covered the burial ceremonies for President John F. Kennedy. He told first hand many of the events that were seen on television by millions of viewers.

Bosworth and his wife, Adrienne, accompanied Gov. James Rhodes on the flight to Washington for the burial ceremony. Gov. Rhodes visited with President Lyndon Johnson during the visit.

Gift to Then-Senator Johnson Linked to Bobby Baker Probe

WASHINGTON (AP)—A local insurance agent has sworn to Senate investigators that in 1958 he gave a stereo set costing over $500 to Lyndon B. Johnson at the suggestion of former Senate aid Robert G. Baker.

President Johnson at that time was the Senate Democratic leader and Baker was secretary to the Senate Democratic majority.

The story of the gift of the stereo set was told to the Senate Rules Committee in a closed session by Don B. Reynolds, who described Baker as associated with his insurance agency. The committee made the testimony public Tuesday.

Reynolds said he paid $542.25 for the stereo set and another $42.50 to have it installed in Johnson's home.

Reynolds also told about a $200,000 insurance policy issued on Johnson's life.

Along with the transcript of Reynolds' testimony, the committee made public a statement from Walter Jenkins, a close associate of the President's, saying he was informed that "the alleged gift of a record player to Mr. and Mrs. Johnson... was a present from Robert G. Baker."

Jenkins also said he was positive he had never heard from any source "that there was a business connection between Robert G. Baker and Don Reynolds in the insurance agency operated by Mr. Reynolds or that Reynolds had any connection whatever with the record player gift."

Baker resigned under fire Oct. 7 from his $19,600-a-year Senate post. The committee is investigating whether he engaged in outside business dealings that conflicted with his official duties or involved other improprieties.

At the White House, press secretary Pierre Salinger, when asked to comment on the Reynolds testimony said:

"Mr. Jenkins' statement which is part of the record makes it very clear the President never had any conversation with Mr. Reynolds about the record player and considered it a gift from a long-time employee."

Asked if Johnson did not receive an invoice which listed Reynolds as the buyer of the equipment, Salinger, said, "I'm standing on the statement I made. I think it was very explicit."

The bulky transcript of Reynolds' recent closed-door testimony, plus a variety of documentary evidence, showed that the committee's special counsel, L. P. McLendon, asked Reynolds:

Was this stereo set bought by you and delivered to Mr. Johnson's house at the suggestion of Baker?

Reynolds: Yes, sir. McLendon: Did you have any communication whatever with the senator about it?

Reynolds: No, sir. McLendon: Either before or after you sent it to him?

Reynolds: No, sir. Reynolds said too that he had never discussed it with Jenkins.

The statement from Jenkins was in the form of a memorandum of an interview that McLendon and the committee's chief investigator, W. Ellis Meehan, had with Jenkins last Dec. 11 at the Executive Office Building next door to the White House.

Jenkins signed a sworn statement that he had read the memorandum, and that the statements in it were true to the best of his knowledge and belief.

Reynolds testified that in order to meet a competitive bid by a rival insurance firm during 1961 negotiations for the insurance on Johnson's life, he agreed to purchase advertising time on a television station owned by the BJ Co. in Austin, Tex.

The BJ Co. is a holding company in which Mrs. Johnson is the principal stockholder. She has placed her stock in trust since Johnson became president.

Reynolds said the advertising took about a $1,100 bite out of his commissions on the insurance. He estimated the commissions at around $5,000 on policies totaling $200,000 on which he said approximately $80,000 of premiums have been paid to date by the BJ Co. which bought the insurance.

Two $50,000 policies were purchased in 1957, and a $100,000

policy in 1961, to make up the $200,000 total, Reynolds said.

Johnson had suffered a heart attack in 1955.

Reynolds was asked by Sen. Claiborne Pell, D-R.I., whether it was usual to make side arrangements in connection with the sale of insurance.

"I have never been asked by any other clients, sir to do so," Reynolds replied.

The exchange continued: Pell: But in this case the suggestion was made to you not by the client, but by Mr. Baker? Reynolds: The advertising time was requested by Mr. Jenkins. The stereo was by Bobby, sir.

Reynolds said he never considered that either the advertising or the stereo gift was a rebate of premiums, a practice he said generally is prohibited.

"I never considered it rebating, but an effort to further business for myself, sir," Reynolds said.

Jenkins denied ever suggesting to Baker or Reynolds that the BJ Co. should get any sort of rebate from the commissions received by Reynolds.

The memorandum of the interview with Jenkins brought out that Jenkins said he thought

Baker had handled the procurement of a temporary $175,000 fire insurance policy on the home Johnson bought here in June 1961 after Johnson became vice president.

Jenkins said his recollection was that he and Johnson were on a trip around the world when the house was purchased and a $175,000 binder policy was obtained until permanent fire insurance could be arranged.

The memorandum quoted Jenkins as saying he thought Baker handled the procurement of this policy "as a courtesy" to Johnson while Johnson and Jenkins were both out of the country.

The permanent fire insurance on Johnson's home, the memo-

Today is Wednesday, Jan. 22, 1964. There are 344 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history: On this date in 1932, President Herbert Hoover signed the Reconstruction Finance Corporation Act. It was for the purpose of providing financial aid to agriculture, commerce and industry.

On this date: In 1673, the first official postal service out of New York City began.

In 1901, Queen Victoria of England died.

In 1942, Japanese invasion troops landed in New Guinea and the Solomon Islands early in World War II.

In 1952, former Secretary of War Robert Patterson and 30 other persons—eight of them in homes set afire—were killed when an airliner crashed in a South Elizabeth, N.J., residential district during fog and rain. Ten years ago—A British Comet jet airliner flew 3,064 miles nonstop from London to Khartoum, Sudan, in six hours, 22 minutes.

Five years ago—Thousands of residents were made homeless as floods, sleet and snowstorms swept Eastern and Midwestern U. S. areas.

One year ago—France and West Germany signed a treaty of cooperation.

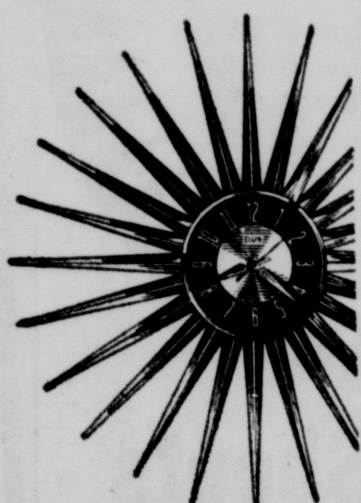

4 Tenant Farmers Bequeathed Estate

FREMONT, Ohio (AP)—Four tenant farmers have been given the farms they operate as bequests from the owner of the property, who died Dec. 31.

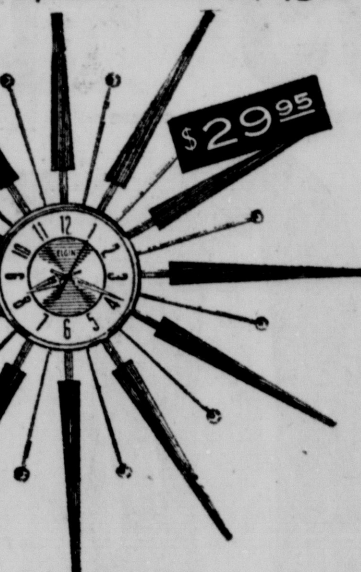

Lyle Planert, Donald Fahle, Walter Magsig and Lloyd Long, all of nearby Washington Township, said they received letters from the Cass County Courthouse at Logansport, Ind., saying Roscoe C. Overmyer had made the bequests.

Overmyer, native of nearby Lindsey, died in Logansport. His will was filed there Jan. 10, the letters said.

Size of the farms and their value were not available, pending the official filing of the papers in Sandusky County Court here.

4 Tenant Farmers Bequeathed Estate

FREMONT, Ohio (AP)—Four tenant farmers have been given the farms they operate as bequests from the owner of the property, who died Dec. 31.

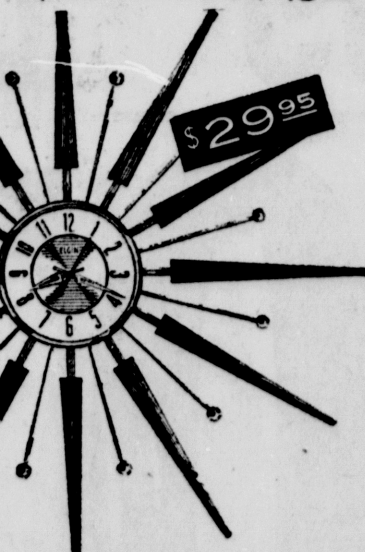

Lyle Planert, Donald Fahle, Walter Magsig and Lloyd Long, all of nearby Washington Township, said they received letters from the Cass County Courthouse at Logansport, Ind., saying Roscoe C. Overmyer had made the bequests.

Overmyer, native of nearby Lindsey, died in Logansport. His will was filed there Jan. 10, the letters said.

Size of the farms and their value were not available, pending the official filing of the papers in Sandusky County Court here.

Force-Feeding of Snakes Is Rated 'Most Ticklish Job'

That's really baby food that Florida State Museum curator Tom Baker (left) and Robert Allen are feeding this deadly, tropical sea snake!

Press and This Newspaper

Every young mother who has ever had to feed an infant at 2 a. m. — at least most of them — can sympathize with a group of scientists at the Florida State Museum. They're trying diligently to keep a pair of sea snakes alive at the University of Florida campus.

It's true that the feeding schedule isn't quite as strenuous. These reptiles require food only every couple of weeks. But it's considerably more dangerous.

These particular snakes shipped to curator Tom Baker from New Caledonia for study and research, are the only ones of their kind in the Western Hemisphere.

Black and white striped, they're sea-going cousins of the deadly cobra and the dreaded American coral snake. They've learned to accept the shallow confines of their shallow water prison, all right. But they

OMEA To Meet At Teays Valley

Teays Valley High School has been selected as the site for the Feb. 15 meeting of the Ohio Music Education Assn.

The day's activities will include sessions for elementary classroom teachers and both elementary and junior high vocal supervisors.

Dr. Walter Purdy of Houston, Tex., will be the featured speaker. R. Byron Greist, state president of the OMEA, will direct the 65-vocal district choir during a rehearsal.

High school instrumental teachers will attend a two-hour rehearsal conducted by Col. William F. Santelman, retired conductor of the world famous U. S. Marine Band. The two bands to be conducted by Col. Santelman will be the Perryburg High School Band and the Teays Valley High School Concert Band.

The day's activities will be concluded by a presentation of the all-district chorus and the two bands in concert at 3 p. m. The concert will be open to the public.

Sheriff's Aide Shot, Killed

Mental Patient
Shuns Arrest

LORAIN, Ohio (AP)—Shouting "I'm not going back," a 35-year-old mental patient Tuesday shot and killed the sheriff's deputy who came to take him to a state mental hospital.

The mental patient, Elbert Rush of Sheffield Township, later was flushed from his home by tear gas and subdued.

Killed was John Palermo, 42, who had gone to Rush's home on what deputies considered a routine assignment.

Armed with a court order sending Rush to the Tiffin State Hospital, Palermo told Rush to get his coat and come along. Rush stepped inside and slammed the door.

Palermo, accompanied by auxiliary deputy Eugene Kubuske, kicked open the door. Rush was inside with a revolver.

"Put the gun down," said Palermo, but Rush fired instead.

Kubuske dodged behind a snowbank for cover and saw Palermo stagger out and fall to the ground. Rush came to the door then and fired wildly, emptying the revolver.

Kubuske went to try to help Palermo. He said he heard him gasp:

"Oh my God, I don't want to die. Get me some help!"

Then he took a deep breath and collapsed, never regaining consciousness.

Kubuske used the cruiser radio to summon help. The force that came to his aid included deputies, highway patrolmen and Lorain police.

Although Rush dropped the revolver on the porch the officers took no chances. They fired tear gas shells through the windows. Rush came out coughing, his hands in the air.

But when two officers went to the porch to bring him down, Rush threw his arms around their necks and knocked them into the mud.

It took seven men to subdue Rush, who was knocked unconscious.

Sheriff Vernon M. Smith said Rush was committed by his father, Eugene of Lorain, who told authorities his son kept staring at the walls and complaining of "snakes in my stomach." The younger Rush previously had been committed voluntarily to the Summit County Receiving Home.

City, State Law Conflict Is Debated

AKRON, Ohio (AP)—A precedent may at last be set for the question of whether state laws or city ordinances requiring public meetings have any effect on commissions created under a city charter.

An attorney for the city of Akron, Ray Sheppard, argued in court Monday that the state public meeting law has no effect because Akron has home rule as a charter city. The State Constitution provides home rule to charter cities.

Because of this, Sheppard continued, Akron's public meeting ordinance likewise has no effect because the commissions are created by the charter. By such an ordinance, Sheppard said, the city would be usurping the power of the commission in decreeing that its meetings must be open to the public.

Attorneys for the city and the Akron Beacon Journal filed briefs with Common Pleas Court Judge Stephen C. Colopy. The newspaper is asking a declaratory judgment laying down rules for meetings of city agencies.

The newspaper brought suit after the City Planning Commission barred reporters from two meetings at which action was taken on personnel matters.

The Beacon Journal argues that meetings of all city agencies should be open under the public meetings ordinance. Council has the right to declare meetings public as long as there is no conflict with the charter, said Carl Hay, attorney for the newspaper.

Both sides were given until Feb. 15 to file answering briefs.

Boy Scout Troop 159 opened the Ashville PTA meeting Thursday night with the traditional flag ceremony. Scripture and prayer was given by the Rev. A. L. Drewes, pastor of the First English Lutheran Church.

Mrs. Felix Dore, president, expressed hopes of erecting safety signs and painting crosswalks as soon as a weather permits.

She reported that students in the even grades recently had their eyes examined by the Circleville Lions Club. Several students in other grades also were given the free examination.

Edwin Irwin, principal, suggested that a vice president be nominated for the remainder of the year. Mrs. Dore, the former vice president had replaced Mrs. Raymond Huggins, who recently resigned as president of the organization. Elected to serve in this office was Mrs. Art Deal Jr.

Roll call was won by the grade six for having the most parents in attendance. The Junior Band, composed of fifth and sixth grade students under the direction of William Pangburn and Mrs. Lowry, presented the songs, "Billy Boy," "Ten Little Indians" and the "Battle Hymn of the Republic."

The program was "Know Your Local Organizations." On hand to give a brief history and describe goals of their respective clubs were: Howard Hosler, representing the Ashville Kiwanis Club; Roland Featheringham, the Ashville Community Club; Mrs. Art Deal Jr., the Ashville Women's Civic Club; Gordon Perrill, American Legion Post 730; Mrs. Eugene Wilson and Mrs. Emerson Dum, the American Legion Auxiliary; Don Thompson, Ashville Harrison Volunteer Firemen; Mrs. Frank Baum, 4-H Activities; Mrs. John Sabine, Girl Scouts; Art Deal Jr., Boy Scouts; and Kenneth Reigel, Ashville Harrison Band Boosters.

Other selections by the Junior Band were "Band Boys March," "Down in the Valley," and "Big Yellow Bus." Mrs. Donald Younkin was returned from Riverside Methodist Hospital to the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Cleve Hickman. She is reported showing improvement each day.

The Ashville Harrison Band Boosters met Thursday evening following the monthly PTA meeting. President Kenneth Riegel presided over the business session. The treasurer reported a profit of $110 on the peanut sale held in November. William Pangburn, introduced Mrs. Lowry who is assisting him this year with the schools' instrumental program.

A small rental fee will be charged to Amanda School for three band uniforms being used since the first part of the school year. The treasurer was authorized to issue $15 to Pangburn for small miscellaneous bills.

Pangburn announced that the solo and ensemble festival will be Feb. 22 at the Ashville School. Students are urged to participate. A date will be selected for the annual Spring Show which will be presented at the Teays Valley High School Auditorium this year.

A candy sale will be held the last week of January. The group voted a gift newspaper subscription to Mrs. Nolo Gulick for the time and support given to the Booster Club, although her children are no longer members of the band.

Pangburn was granted permission to rent two full length movies showing the life and music of two well known composers. The films will be shown free to grade students.

It is hoped samples of junior band uniforms will be shown at the next regular meeting. Means of purchasing the uniforms were discussed.

Meetings under the direction of James Brown, guidance director for the Teays Valley School System, will be held in the Teays Valley Auditorium, during February for the purpose of explaining the curriculum to all high school students and their parents.

Meetings will begin 8 p. m. each Monday. The first is planned for the junior students and their parents and is set for

Feb. 3. The second is planned for sophomores and their parents and will be held Feb. 10.

The third session is for the freshmen and their parents and will be held Feb. 17. The last is planned for eighth graders and their parents on Feb. 24.

Students and parents are urged to keep these dates in mind. Their attendance will be appreciated.

The Mary - Martha Circle of the First English Lutheran Church will meet at the home of Mrs. Oenam Tosca this Thursday at 1:30 p. m. and Mrs. Harvey Roby Jr., will be assisting Mrs. Donald Flierl will conduct the Bible Study.

Students in both the grade and high schools in the Teays Valley School District have been busy this week with final semester exams. Grade cards are due next Wednesday.

The Teays Valley Vikings will host Washington C. H. Saturday evening in the school gym. The senior class will sponsor a dance following the game.

Homecoming festivities are being planned for Feb. 1 when TV will host Williamsport. The court will be named this week with the queen to be announced the night of the game.

The Alumni game has been rescheduled for the night of Feb. 7 in the TV gym.

The Teays Valley Athletic Booster Club will sponsor a card party 8 p. m. Saturday in the Ashville School. Refreshments will be served.

The Bastian Funeral Home made the following ambulance runs this past week: Jan. 15 — moved Jim Barch from the Circleville Home and Hospital to Mercy Hospital; the same day moved Mrs. Amanda Higgins to Berger Hospital; Jan. 20 — moved Robert Hott from the home of his daughter, Mrs. Walter Malone, to the Kearns Rest Home in Circleville.

The Ashville Community Club will meet 6:30 p. m. Monday at the Park Shelterhouse. Members are asked to note the change of time.

The Rev. John Morgan will be in charge of the program. Refreshments will be served at the close of the evening by Bill Lockard and Bob Vince.

Gary Gloyd, son of Mr. and Mrs. Chester Gloyd, is enjoying a two-week leave after completing his training at the Great Lakes Naval Center. He is to report to Key West, Fla., on Jan. 27 for further duties.

Carry-Out Permit Application Filed

The Ohio Department of Liquor Control announced today that it had started processing an application for a permit filed by a local resident.

Woodroe Perkins, 331 Fay Ave., has filed application for a high-powered beer and wine carry-out permit. The application was filed Jan. 3.

If no major problems are encountered in processing the application, it takes a minimum of 30 days to make final disposition.

Taylor-Fisher 'Showdown' Is Heralded

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Elizabeth Taylor and Richard Burton, the world's most publicized lovers, will fly here today from Mexico for what could be a face to face showdown with singer Eddie Fisher.

Burton wrote a letter from the once obscure Mexican resort to Richard Hanley, Miss Taylor's secretary, with instructions that it be released exclusively to The Associated Press. It said:

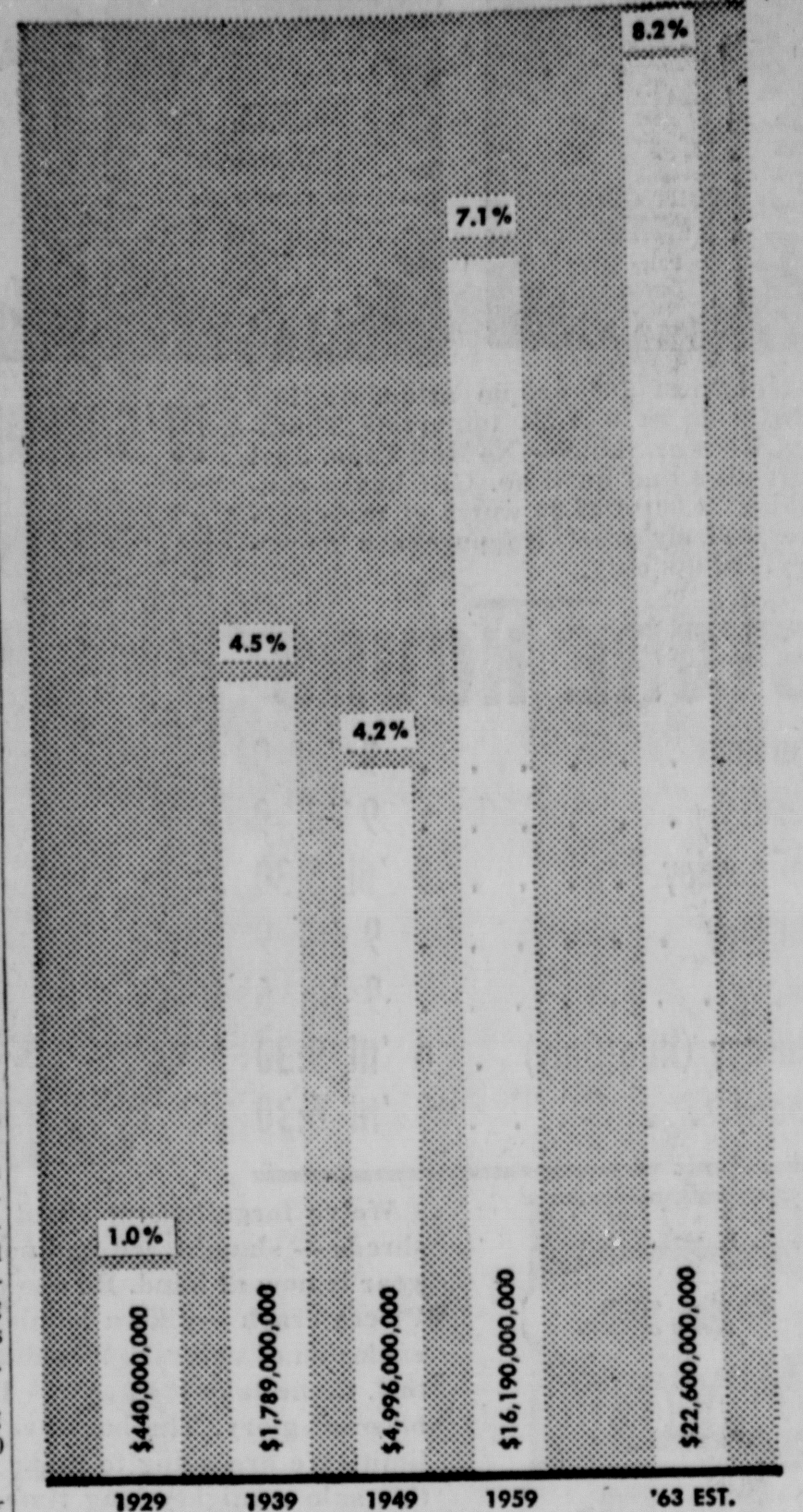

"We are told publicly by the press that Mr. Fisher is anxious to make easy the procedure of divorce. We are told privately by our lawyers that Mr. Fisher's demands are in the realm of the fantastic and quite intolerable.

"In the past two years, the world press for the most part have reviled, abused and maligned Miss Taylor, but even they have never accused her of being a liar," Burton said.

"Mr. Fisher must now decide whether to live up to his public image and do what he calls 'the gentlemanly thing,' or he must make public to the newspapers his private demands."

But Fisher, occupying a bungalow in the Beverly Hills Hotel, said he knew of no plans for a showdown. His lawyer, Louis Nizer, has been urging such a meeting for weeks.

Nuclear Power Use on New Canal Studied

Testifying before the same committee, Chairman Glenn T. Seaborg of the Atomic Energy Commission said that at the present time excavations made by a nuclear power would involve questions of radioactive fallout. He said "we are not ready" for canal or harbor digging, adding that a few years of development of atomic devices and experiments in excavation would be required.

The limited test-ban treaty was negotiated and signed as a measure to stop the testing of nuclear weapons in the air, outer space and under water. Underground explosions were not banned because a ban of that kind could not be policed without a kind of inspection inside the Soviet Union which the Russians would not accept.

At an early stage of the negotiations, back in 1962, the United States proposed a treaty which contained a clause to permit the explosion of nuclear devices for peaceful purposes if the countries signing the treaty unanimously agreed. The Soviet government last summer rejected that provision during work on the treaty.

The U. S. negotiators, on instruction from Washington, then got the Soviet Union and Britain to agree to include in the treaty a statement that not only weapons test explosions but also "any other nuclear explosion" in the atmosphere, outer space and under water would be prohibited.

Explosions for peaceful uses are not prohibited by the treaty if they are conducted underground. But there is one limitation on all underground blasts. They must not blow into the air radioactive materials which fall beyond the boundaries of the nation in which the explosion occurs.

A total of 107 countries has signed the treaty, including the original three — the United States, the Soviet Union and Britain. The treaty provides that amendments may be made if approved by a majority of all the signers, including the original three.

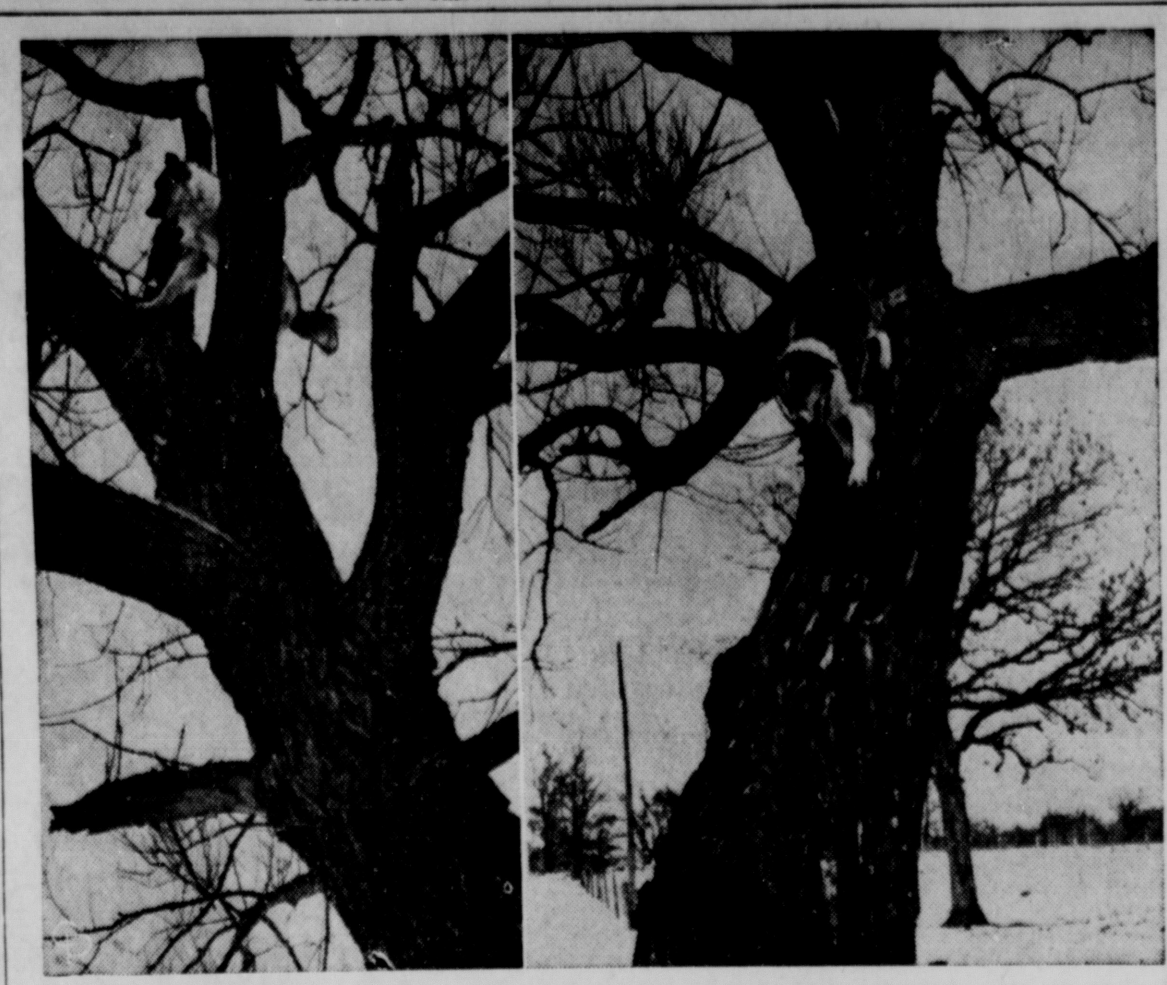

The problem in using nuclear blasts on a canal, officials said, is whether devices can be developed so radioactive fallout would not occur beyond the boundaries of the country in which the canal was dug.

Jerald W. Johnson of the AEC's radiation laboratory at Livermore, Calif., recently wrote a letter to Sen. John O. Pastore, D-R.I., in which he said that major advances have been made in cutting down radioactivity.

The difficulties raised by the test-ban treaty and by the recent status of nuclear techniques form only a part of the tissues which the Johnson administration would have to deal with should it decide in favor of a second canal.

Another set of problems is political and diplomatic. In the first place the United States would have to get the consent and would hope to get the enthusiastic approval of the Central American country on whose territory the canal was to be built with the use of nuclear explosives.

As far as other treaty signers are concerned, Rusk told the Foreign Relations Committee that if the United States got to the point of massive uses of nuclear explosives for peaceful purposes "we might well want to inform other signatories of the treaty, give them the information to that effect." This would be short of asking their consent but it would make clear a U.S. desire for their understanding.

Fate Is Making Politics Ridiculously Intriguing

NEW YORK (AP) — "It is hard to prove that the Lord is on the side of the Democrats, but it does seem that some perverse force is working against the Republicans."

So observes James Reston, chief Washington correspondent for the New York Times and a two-time Pulitzer Prize winner. Turning an astute eye toward the current political scene, Reston observes:

Look at those symbols of true-blue Republicanism, the Tafts. Some hero is always getting in their way. Just when Sen. Robert Taft, the elder, was finally on the verge of getting the Republican presidential nomination in 1952, along came General Eisenhower; and just when Robert Taft Jr. was reaching for his father's seat in the Senate, who should challenge him for it but John Glenn of Ohio and outer space.

Barry Goldwater's luck has been almost as bad. He had it all figured out. He was all set—or so it seemed—to capture the South and win the presidential nomination when an assassin's bullet put a Southerner in the White House and transformed the whole political outlook.

Nixon, Rockefeller and Lodge have fared little better. They all ways seem to be doing the wrong thing at the wrong time: Moving to New York instead of staying in California, or getting divorced when they should have stayed married, or getting remarried when they should have stayed divorced, or joining the Democrats in Saigon when they should have been wooing the Republicans in Boston.

The result is that the Republicans who really want the presidential nomination—Rockefeller, Goldwater and Nixon—probably can't get it, and the man who really doesn't want it—Gov. William Scranton of Pennsylvania — is probably going to have it forced upon him.

Scranton is the Adlai Stevenson of 1964. Like Adlai in 1952, he is being sought out because he just happens to be the attractive governor of a big state his party wants to win. Like Adlai, he doesn't really think he's ready, would prefer to run next time, is both eloquent and reluctant, and is probably marked, like Stevenson, for nomination and defeat. If all the Republican candidates could have foreseen the future, they would probably have avoided all the major personal and political moves they made.

The Democrats, on the other hand, with no more foreknowledge than the Republicans, just happened to make the right move on the vice-presidency in 1960.

The last thing they considered was that Lyndon Johnson would outlive John F. Kennedy. The party was not enthusiastic about Johnson as a running mate. Sam Rayburn, Bobby Kennedy and Mrs. Johnson were all at first opposed to it, and the nomination could very easily have gone to Senators Symington of Missouri or Henry Jackson of Washington, either of whom would have been a weaker candidate than Johnson.

This element of fate of accident is what makes politics such a ridiculously intriguing business. It is supposed to be governed by rigid rules, but somebody or something is always intervening to change the game, and even the normal reactions to human conduct somehow fail to apply to presidential candidates.

The American people for example, usually like men and women who say plainly what they think and have solutions to troublesome problems, but this doesn't seem to work when applied to politicians.

Nobody is in more trouble today than the candidates who are saying precisely what they mean and putting forward tidy answers to the major questions of the day. Goldwater and Rockefeller are plunking themselves to death. Nobody is in much doubt about their policies, but they are killing each other off, while everybody is in doubt about whether President Johnson is a conservative progressive or a progressive conservative, and he's in clover.

This country has over 4,000,000 unemployed. Its population is increasing by over 3,000,000 a year. It has to find 1,250,000 jobs every 12 months just to keep pace with the rising work force, and another million to deal with the casualties of automation.

In this situation, the President has cut the budget and declared war on poverty and pleased both the conservatives and the liberals without telling either of them how he proposes to do it. Yet everybody agrees this is good politics.

Sen. Stephen M. Young of Ohio, on the other hand, has emphasized candor in his politics. When his constituents charge him falsely he wires them: "You're a liar." When he gets silly letters from them, he writes back: "I think you should know, before I inform the F.B.I. that some nut is writing me letters over your signature."

Everybody who is interested knows where Young stands on everything, and nobody knows where John Glenn stands on anything, as yet, but who wants to bet that the old veteran will beat the new hero in the Ohio primary? The whole thing is gloriously unpredictable, occasionally tragic, often frustrating, and sometimes uproariously funny. How democracy works nobody quite knows. It is the worst system of government in the world, says Winston Churchill, "except all those other systems."

In the Himalayan kingdom of Sikkim the license tags on the royal family's car have no numbers, simply the word "Sikkim".

How Weather Looks Today

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Official Weather Bureau summary of Ohio's weather:

Skies remained clear over Ohio Tuesday night and temperatures were a little warmer in the southern counties, although readings dipped slightly below freezing over much of the northern half.

Early today Zanesville reported 72 degrees, Toledo 29 and Columbus 31.

Sunny weather and warm southerly winds were expected today with afternoon temperatures reaching the 50s and 60s. Tonight an approaching low pressure system will bring some cloudiness, and Thursday skies will be mostly cloudy with scattered showers expected.

OHIO FIVE DAY FORECASTS
NORTHERN OHIO — Temperatures will average about 14 degrees above normal. Normal high 34-36, normal low 18-20. Mild through Friday, colder over weekend, moderating early next week. Precipitation will average about one-half inch as scattered showers Thursday and Friday and snow flurries Saturday and Monday.

SOUTHERN & CENTRAL OHIO—Temperatures will average three to six degrees above normal. Normal high 36-45, normal low 21-27. Cooling trend beginning Thursday, much colder over weekend. Rain Thursday and Friday.

Staff Heads At Lincoln Tour Plant

Thirty executive and supervisory personnel of Lincoln Molded Plastics, Inc., toured the plant of Westinghouse Electric Corp. in Columbus. Westinghouse is one of Lincoln's larger customers.

During the tour, Lincoln visitors were able to see the manufacturing of a multitude of components, including metal stampings of various descriptions, compressor and motor manufacturing and similar operations.

Assembly of air conditioners and refrigerators into the final product for consumer use also was viewed.

The tour was a part of Lincoln's long range plan to familiarize or better acquaint management and supervisory personnel with the application of plastics in industry as a whole.

The World Today

By James Marlow

WASHINGTON (AP) — The endless circle spins again. President Johnson has made disarmament proposals based on the hope the Soviet Union has changed its mind. But there's no reason to believe it has.

Johnson suggested Tuesday—in a message to the 18-nation disarmament conference which opened in Geneva — several moves for controlling nuclear weapons and cutting down their production.

There would have to be an inspection system to prevent cheating. This is what the United States has always insisted upon, before there could be an agreement. But the Soviet Union has always opposed an inspection system.

Last week Johnson said "we shall make new proposals" to the conference. Later he was quoted in a White House statement as saying "as the United States enters these negotiations . . . we harbor no illusions of easy success."

His proposals Tuesday were not basically new. Even his opening sentence had a familiar sound, the kind of thing the United States and the Soviet Union have been saying for years:

"There is only one item on the agenda of this conference — it is the leading item on the agenda — and that one item is peace."

The Soviet Union said several years ago in a memorandum on disarmament: "There is no task more vital and urgent today than the task of preserving peace."

The White House had hardly announced Johnson's proposals before senators were urging caution, warning there could be no agreement without inspection.

Any hope of a Soviet switch on inspection seems based on this: Maybe they think it's time for a second look because (1) their economy is in a downturn and less money spent on armaments would help and (2) their split with Red China may make them want better relations with the West.

This past year there have been some steps towards better relations, as Johnson mentioned: an agreement banning nuclear tests except underground; a direct line between Moscow and Washington to be used in a crisis to prevent misunderstandings; and a unanimous United Nations vote last October against nuclear - armed space satellites to halt the arms race upstairs.

But even if the Soviet Union switched on inspection, this awfully unpleasant question remains: what good would a disarmament agreement be unless Red China was a party to it?

It's hard to believe the U.S. Senate would ever approve a disarmament agreement which did not include Red China. But Red China is not taking part in the 18-nation conference. And, to complicate matters, this country refuses to recognize the Communist Chinese as the lawful masters of China.

The Red Chinese, in turn, have said they would not be bound by any disarmament treaty unless they took part in it and, in addition, they said they would not take part unless the United States recognized them.

The falacy in a disarmament agreement without Red China was explained by the late President John F. Kennedy at a news conference Feb. 14, 1962:

"There is no use having an inspection system agreed upon between . . . the United States and the Soviet Union and some other countries and then have another country, large, carrying on intensive armaments preparations. Quite obviously that would not protect our security."

"So this problem of bringing that in is a problem that must be considered before we would be able to have confidence in any disarmament agreement."

Red China is not even a member of the United Nations. The United States has managed so far to keep it out. But the American ally, Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek's Nationalist China on Formosa, is a U.N. member.

Chiang claims to be boss of all China, although the Reds drove him off the mainland and have kept him off. So, in addition to all the problems just mentioned, there's this.

How, for the sake of universal disarmament, could the United States recognize Red China without abandoning Chiang or at least in effect agreeing that the Red Chinese and not Chiang were the boss of China?

For all these reasons the disarmament circle seems due to keep spinning quite a while.

Dr. Alvarez Set For Rotary Talk

Speaker for Thursday's meeting of the Rotary Club will be Dr. Carlos Alvarez of Circleville.

Dr. Alvarez will describe his visit to Mexico during the past holiday season. He will tell of his experiences there and comment on customs in the land south of the border.

The session will be conducted at the St. Philip's Church Parish House.

They all ways seem to be doing the wrong thing at the wrong time: Moving to New York instead of staying in California, or getting divorced when they should have stayed married, or getting remarried when they should have stayed divorced, or joining the Democrats in Saigon when they should have been wooing the Republicans in Boston.

The result is that the Republicans who really want the presidential nomination—Rockefeller, Goldwater and Nixon—probably can't get it, and the man who really doesn't want it—Gov. William Scranton of Pennsylvania — is probably going to have it forced upon him.

Scranton is the Adlai Stevenson of 1964. Like Adlai in 1952, he is being sought out because he just happens to be the attractive governor of a big state his party wants to win. Like Adlai, he doesn't really think he's ready, would prefer to run next time, is both eloquent and reluctant, and is probably marked, like Stevenson, for nomination and defeat. If all the Republican candidates could have foreseen the future, they would probably have avoided all the major personal and political moves they made.

The Democrats, on the other hand, with no more foreknowledge than the Republicans, just happened to make the right move on the vice-presidency in 1960.

The last thing they considered was that Lyndon Johnson would outlive John F. Kennedy. The party was not enthusiastic about Johnson as a running mate. Sam Rayburn, Bobby Kennedy and Mrs. Johnson were all at first opposed to it, and the nomination could very easily have gone to Senators Symington of Missouri or Henry Jackson of Washington, either of whom would have been a weaker candidate than Johnson.

This element of fate of accident is what makes politics such a ridiculously intriguing business. It is supposed to be governed by rigid rules, but somebody or something is always intervening to change the game, and even the normal reactions to human conduct somehow fail to apply to presidential candidates.

The American people for example, usually like men and women who say plainly what they think and have solutions to troublesome problems, but this doesn't seem to work when applied to politicians.

Nobody is in more trouble today than the candidates who are saying precisely what they mean and putting forward tidy answers to the major questions of the day. Goldwater and Rockefeller are plunking themselves to death. Nobody is in much doubt about their policies, but they are killing each other off, while everybody is in doubt about whether President Johnson is a conservative progressive or a progressive conservative, and he's in clover.

This country has over 4,000,000 unemployed. Its population is increasing by over 3,000,000 a year. It has to find 1,250,000 jobs every 12 months just to keep pace with the rising work force, and another million to deal with the casualties of automation.

In this situation, the President has cut the budget and declared war on poverty and pleased both the conservatives and the liberals without telling either of them how he proposes to do it. Yet everybody agrees this is good politics.

Sen. Stephen M. Young of Ohio, on the other hand, has emphasized candor in his politics. When his constituents charge him falsely he wires them: "You're a liar." When he gets silly letters from them, he writes back: "I think you should know, before I inform the F.B.I. that some nut is writing me letters over your signature."

Everybody who is interested knows where Young stands on everything, and nobody knows where John Glenn stands on anything, as yet, but who wants to bet that the old veteran will beat the new hero in the Ohio primary? The whole thing is gloriously unpredictable, occasionally tragic, often frustrating, and sometimes uproariously funny. How democracy works nobody quite knows. It is the worst system of government in the world, says Winston Churchill, "except all those other systems."

In the Himalayan kingdom of Sikkim the license tags on the royal family's car have no numbers, simply the word "Sikkim."

What makes a Diamond Sparkle?

Perfection? Color? Weight? NO! a thousand times no! CUTTING - Yes! A diamond cut in proper proportions shows an equal distribution of light and brilliancy at all distances from the eyes. It refracts the rays, which hit the diamond, back through the top. In a poorly cut diamond, however, the light rays leak through. Let our Diamond Experts show you the difference scientifically.

How Weather Looks Today

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Official Weather Bureau summary of Ohio's weather:

Skies remained clear over Ohio Tuesday night and temperatures were a little warmer in the southern counties, although readings dipped slightly below freezing over much of the northern half.

Early today Zanesville reported 72 degrees, Toledo 29 and Columbus 31.

Sunny weather and warm southerly winds were expected today with afternoon temperatures reaching the 50s and 60s.

Tonight an approaching low pressure system will bring some cloudiness, and Thursday skies will be mostly cloudy with scattered showers expected.

OHIO FIVE DAY FORECASTS

NORTHERN OHIO — Temperatures will average about 14 degrees above normal. Normal high 34-36, normal low 18-22. Mild through Friday, colder over weekend, moderating early next week. Precipitation will average about one-half inch as scattered showers Thursday and Friday and snow flurries Saturday and Monday.

SOUTHERN & CENTRAL OHIO—Temperatures will average three to six degrees above normal. Normal high 36-45, normal low 21-27. Cooling trend beginning Thursday, much colder over weekend. Rain Thursday and Friday.

Staff Heads At Lincoln Tour Plant

Thirty executive and supervisory personnel of Lincoln Molded Plastics, Inc., toured the plant of Westinghouse Electric Corp. in Columbus. Westinghouse is one of Lincoln's larger customers.

During the tour, Lincoln visitors were able to see the manufacturing of a multitude of components, including metal stampings of various descriptions, compressor and motor manufacturing and similar operations.

Assembly of air conditioners and refrigerators into the final product for consumer use also was viewed.

The tour was a part of Lincoln's long range plan to familiarize or better acquaint management and supervisory personnel with the application of plastics in industry as a whole.

The World Today

By James Marlow

WASHINGTON (AP) — The endless circle spins again. President Johnson has made disarmament proposals based on the hope the Soviet Union has changed its mind. But there's no reason to believe it has.

Johnson suggested Tuesday—in a message to the 18-nation disarmament conference which opened in Geneva — several moves for controlling nuclear weapons and cutting down their production.

There would have to be an inspection system to prevent cheating. This is what the United States has always insisted upon, before there could be an agreement. But the Soviet Union has always opposed an inspection system.

Last week Johnson said "we shall make new proposals" to the conference. Later he was quoted in a White House statement as saying "as the United States enters these negotiations . . . we harbor no illusions of easy success."

His proposals Tuesday were not basically new. Even his opening sentence had a familiar sound, the kind of thing the United States and the Soviet Union have been saying for years:

"There is only one item on the agenda of this conference — it is the leading item on the agenda — and that one item is peace."

The Soviet Union said several years ago in a memorandum on disarmament: "There is no task more vital and urgent today than the task of preserving peace."

The White House had hardly announced Johnson's proposals before senators were urging caution, warning there could be no agreement without inspection. Any hope of a Soviet switch on inspection seems based on this: Maybe they think it's time for a second look because (1) their economy is in a downturn and less money spent on armaments would help and (2) their split with Red China may make them want better relations with the West.

This past year there have been some steps towards better relations, as Johnson mentioned: an agreement banning nuclear tests except underground; a direct line between Moscow and Washington to be used in a crisis to prevent misunderstandings; and a unanimous United Nations vote last October against nuclear - armed space satellites to halt the arms race upstairs.

But even if the Soviet Union switched on inspection, this awfully unpleasant question remains: what good would a disarmament agreement be unless Red China was a party to it? It's hard to believe the U.S. Senate would ever approve a disarmament agreement which did not include Red China. But Red China is not taking part in the 18-nation conference. And, to complicate matters, this country refuses to recognize the Communist Chinese as the lawful masters of China.

The Red Chinese, in turn, have said they would not be bound by any disarmament treaty unless they took part in it and, in addition, they said they would not take part unless the United States recognized them.

The falacy in a disarmament agreement without Red China was explained by the late President John F. Kennedy at a news conference Feb. 14, 1962:

"There is no use having an inspection system agreed upon between . . . the United States and the Soviet Union and some other countries and then have another country, large, carrying on intensive armaments preparations. Quite obviously that would not protect our security. "So this problem of bringing that in is a problem that must be considered before we would be able to have confidence in any disarmament agreement."

Red China is not even a member of the United Nations. The United States has managed so far to keep it out. But the American ally, Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek's Nationalist China on Formosa, is a U.N. member. Chiang claims to be boss of all China, although the Reds drove him off the mainland and have kept him off. So, in addition to all the problems just mentioned, there's this.

How, for the sake of universal disarmament, could the United States recognize Red China without abandoning Chiang or at least in effect agreeing that the Red Chinese and not Chiang were the boss of China?

For all these reasons the disarmament circle seems due to keep spinning quite a while.

Dr. Alvarez Set For Rotary Talk

Speaker for Thursday's meeting of the Rotary Club will be Dr. Carlos Alvarez of Circleville.

Dr. Alvarez will describe his visit to Mexico during the past holiday season. He will tell of his experiences there and comment on customs in the land south of the border.

The session will be conducted at the St. Philip's Church Parish House.

Disney Productions Chalk $6½ Million Profit in '63

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—"Yes, it has been a good year," said Roy Disney with characteristic understatement.

Roy is "the other Disney"—the older brother who has long provided the money to bring Walt's dreams to reality. The success of this lifelong partnership is shown in Walt Disney Productions' annual report.

From 1953 to 1964, gross income increased 1-fold from $8 million to almost $82 million. Profits last year were at an all-time high of $6,574,000.

As president and financial mind of the Disney empire, Roy has long left the spotlight to his famous brother.

"He's a grand guy," said Roy, whose homespun manner hides a steel-trap like financial mind. "It has always been a job keeping up with him. He gets the ideas, then I have to look at them from a practical, prosaic view."

"Sometimes I've had to say no, and he'll accept it if he knows that my decision didn't come from lack of vision. There have been times when I just couldn't get the money."

"He's not a bad guy to work with. He knows what he wants and he'll listen to you—if you know what you're talking about. But if you're just shooting off your mouth, he won't hear a thing."

"My job is to help Walt do the things he wants to do," said Roy. "I take no part in the artistic decision; that's not my field. I deal with the banks and give Walt a free hand. The trouble with a lot of other movie companies is that the banks make decisions on the pictures."

Has the studio ever been in real trouble?

Roy smiled.

"We've always been pretty stretched out," he said. "Maybe that's why we've done so well—we always owed so much money. Only in the past three years have we been able to breathe more easily."

Rowan Gets Morrow Job As USIA Chief

WASHINGTON (AP)—Edward R. Morrow has resigned as director of the U.S. Information Agency and is being replaced by Carl Rowan, who will become the highest-ranking Negro in the government.

President Johnson announced Morrow's resignation, which Morrow said was tendered because of the need for a long convalescence from lung cancer surgery. Johnson said he accepted the resignation "with the greatest reluctance."

Rowan, now ambassador to Finland, is a former newspaperman who was deputy assistant secretary of state for public affairs before going to Finland.

As USIA director, Rowan will become the first Negro ever to sit in on meetings of the action Security Council. It is acsit in on meetings of the National Security Council. It is accepted practice for the USIA chief to attend the council sessions.

Rowan, 38, a Tennessee native, also will sit in on Cabinet meetings.

Morrow, who signed his resignation Dec. 19, suggested it would not be fair to Johnson to leave the USIA without an on-the-job director during the convalescence.

Morrow, veteran radio and television broadcaster, took the $21,000 a-year USIA post at the start of the Kennedy administration.

PUBERTY PROBLEM

Q. What can be done for a 14-year-old boy whose breasts have begun to enlarge? He is very self-conscious about this.

A. Breast enlargement at puberty is said to occur in about 80 per cent of boys. In most cases the enlargement is scarcely noticeable. A medical examination is called for when the enlargement is pronounced. Treatment may or may not be in order.

STOMACH FREEZING

Q. I have heard that stomach ulcers can be cured by freezing the stomach. Would you please write about this treatment?

A. The aim in most forms of treatment for "stomach" (peptic) ulcer is the reduction of gastric secretion of acid and pepsin. Gastric cooling or freezing achieves this aim by directly altering the glands which secrete these substances. "Freezing" is accomplished by the circulation of cooled alcohol through a balloon which the patient swallows. Gastric cooling for peptic ulcer is an interesting new development. However, further careful studies must be made before doctors generally will accept the method as being a reliable method of treatment.

Remember — the diagnosis and treatment of disease is the function of the patient's personal physician.

"He's not a bad guy to work with. He knows what he wants and he'll listen to you—if you know what you're talking about. But if you're just shooting off your mouth, he won't hear a thing."

"My job is to help Walt do the things he wants to do," said Roy. "I take no part in the artistic decision; that's not my field. I deal with the banks and give Walt a free hand. The trouble with a lot of other movie companies is that the banks make decisions on the pictures."

Has the studio ever been in real trouble?

Roy smiled. "We've always been pretty stretched out," he said. "Maybe that's why we've done so well—we always owed so much money. Only in the past three years have we been able to breathe more easily."

Rowan Gets Morrow Job As USIA Chief

WASHINGTON (AP)—Edward R. Morrow has resigned as director of the U.S. Information Agency and is being replaced by Carl Rowan, who will become the highest-ranking Negro in the government.

President Johnson announced Morrow's resignation, which Morrow said was tendered because of the need for a long convalescence from lung cancer surgery. Johnson said he accepted the resignation "with the greatest reluctance."

Rowan, now ambassador to Finland, is a former newspaperman who was deputy assistant secretary of state for public affairs before going to Finland.

As USIA director, Rowan will become the first Negro ever to sit in on meetings of the action Security Council. It is also in on meetings of the National Security Council. It is accepted practice for the USIA chief to attend the council sessions.

Rowan, 38, a Tennessee native, also will sit in on Cabinet meetings.

Morrow, who signed his resignation Dec. 19, suggested it would not be fair to Johnson to leave the USIA without an on-the-job director during the convalescence.

Morrow, veteran radio and television broadcaster, took the $21,000 a-year USIA post at the start of the Kennedy administration.

PUBERTY PROBLEM

Q. What can be done for a 14-year-old boy whose breasts have begun to enlarge? He is very self-conscious about this.

A. Breast enlargement at puberty is said to occur in about 80 per cent of boys. In most cases the enlargement is scarcely noticeable. A medical examination is called for when the enlargement is pronounced. Treatment may or may not be in order.

STOMACH FREEZING

Q. I have heard that stomach ulcers can be cured by freezing the stomach. Would you please write about this treatment?

A. The aim in most forms of treatment for "stomach" (peptic) ulcer is the reduction of gastric secretion of acid and pepsin. Gastric cooling or freezing achieves this aim by directly altering the glands which secrete these substances. "Freezing" is accomplished by the circulation of cooled alcohol through a balloon which the patient swallows. Gastric cooling for peptic ulcer is an interesting new development. However, further careful studies must be made before doctors generally will accept the method as being a reliable method of treatment.

Remember—the diagnosis and treatment of disease is the function of the patient's personal physician.

SCO Track Coaches Favor Sectional

South Central Ohio League track coaches have unanimously approved a resolution favoring a proposal of the Ohio Track Coaches Assn., suggesting a sectional and regional set-up for the purpose of qualification to state track championships.

Paul E. Maple, president of the SCO cinder coaches, has sent a letter to the Ohio Assn. informing the group of the league stand on the matter. Jim Lint will be the Circleville coach this year.

SCO coaches listed ten major reasons for favoring the sectional-regional plan. They are:

1. Sectional meets would increase local interest.
2. More schools would participate in sectionals than now enter district-state competition.
3. Sectionals would greatly reduce the distance traveled to district meets.
4. Sectionals would encourage the entry of entire squads in the first level of state competition.
5. Consolidations have brought about the need for a complete revision in the track championships program.
6. The large district meets now heavily favor the large class AA school.
7. The smaller class AA schools would have an opportunity to excel, or have their "moment of glory" at the sectional level.
8. Fewer boys would qualify for the state meet through regional competition, eliminating need for preliminaries in events such as the mile run.
9. Sectionals could pay their way financially through greater local spectator appeal.
10. Facilities have recently been greatly improved at many possible sectional sites.

The proposal is scheduled to be discussed at the track coaches clinic Jan. 31 in Columbus.

Darby Nipped By Buckskin

The Darby Trojans were defeated last night 54-48, by visiting Buckskin of Ross County.

The Trojans now have a record of 4-9 for the season. They are idle until Jan. 31 when they host Logan Elm in a final Pickaway County League game.

The Darby quintet trailed 14-11 at the end of the first period and 28-22 at halftime.

In the third quarter they outscored the Buckskin five to take a 39-37 lead. But they couldn't hold on as the visitors came up with a 17-point production in the final period. In a previous meeting between the two schools, Buckskin won, 92-73.

DAN BOWEN paced the losers with 15 markers. Dave Rowland scored 14.

Game honors went to Eddie Schiller who tallied 17 points on six field goals and five charity tosses.

The Trojans matched the field goal production of the winners, although they hit a cool 25 per cent of their attempts compared to 32 per cent for Buckskin. Both had 18 field goals.

The difference in the scoring margin was provided at the foul line where Buckskin connected on 18 of 30 chances while Darby hit 12 of 21.

The visitors made it a perfect night by winning the reserve game, 27-22.

CHS Tigers Meet Two Panthers in Week's Cage Tilts

The Circleville Tigers meet a pair of Panthers this weekend when they host Pleasant View Friday and travel to Miami Trace Saturday in South Central Ohio League competition.

The Pleasant View Panthers are the current loop leaders, boasting a perfect 7-0 record against other SCO schools. They tasted defeat for the first time this season when they came out on the short end of a 51-50 decision at Teays Valley Saturday.

In the opening game of the league schedule, the Pleasant View quintet had little difficulty in posting a 64-31 decision over the Tigers.

In league play they hold a two-game edge over second place Hillsboro as they begin the second round of competition. This top showing gives the Robert Brickels coached squad

New Eagles Owner Shops For Coach

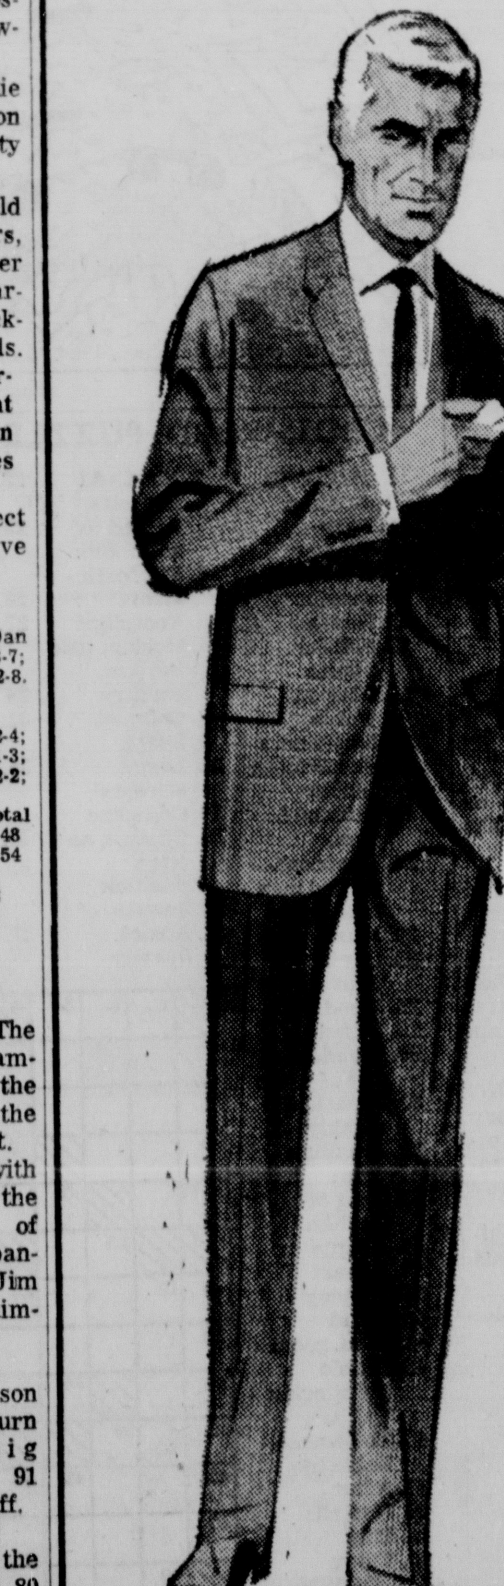

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Joe Kuharich, Red Hickey and Paul Brown, three former National Football League coaches, were being mentioned prominently today for the head coaching job of the Philadelphia Eagles.

Jerry Wolman, Washington multimillionaire announced the release of Coach Nick Skorich Tuesday as he officially took over the club following approval by the league of his purchase of the team for $5,505,000 last month.

Wolman told a news conference he already had contacted Kuharich, Brown and a third possible successor whom he declined to identify by name, saying only he was a former NFL head coach not now coaching. The speculation was that the third coach was Hickey, former head coach of the San Francisco 49ers.

Wolman insisted, however, that the field is wide open, and that he would talk to all candidates. He said he wouldn't make a decision until sometime during or after the NFL's annual meeting at Miami next Tuesday since he planned to seek advice from other league owners and officials.

He said he also plans to discuss the coaching job with Vince McNally, whom he retained as general manager.

Junior High Wins; Frosh Are Downed

The Circleville freshmen and junior high basketball teams split a twin cage bill last night with Lancaster Ewing teams at the Lancaster school.

The junior high won the first tilt, 36-25. The Tiger frosh were behind all the way to lose 63-47.

Steve Dade paced the winning Red and Black aggregation, scoring 17 points. Bob Walisa contributed eight markers and helped control rebounding for the Tiny Tigers.

The score was 9-2, 16-5 and 25-15 at the quarter breaks with Circleville on the top all the way.

IN THE frosh game the Red and Black unit was behind one point at the end of the first six minutes of play. By halftime the visitors had widened the margin to 28-23 and as the final period began led 40-31.

Joe Winner and Bill Moss teamed up with ten markers each for Circleville while Noel of Ewing earned game honors with a 19 point production.

The Ewing frosh used a man to man pressing defense throughout the entire game, forcing the Tigers into several turnovers.

The Tiger frosh have a 3-7 record for the season while the eighth graders are 4-3.

Tomorrow night Lancaster Ewing plays in the Circleville gymnasium in a return match.

2 Michigan Cagers Get Top Ratings

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Cazzie Russell and Bill Buntin, the one-two punch for the Michigan Wolverines, are high up in college basketball's current All-America check list.

They demonstrated their ability again Tuesday night as the Wolverines whipped Minnesota 80-66 and took another step towards their first Big Ten championship in 16 years.

Russell threw in 25 points and Buntin added 23 as the Wolverines, second-ranked nationally in The Associated Press' poll, rolled to their fourth straight league triumph and 13th victory in 14 starts over-all.

The way they are going the Wolverines may finish with a perfect 14-0 mark in league play in contrast to their first year in Big Ten basketball, back in 1918, when they didn't win a league game. In fact their only defeat this campaign came at the hands of unbeaten UCLA, top-ranked in The AP poll.

Playing at home, Michigan was the only team in The AP's Top Ten to see action Tuesday as the mid-season exam lull continued.

Don Heffner, Mel Harder and Wes Westrum will coach under Met Manager Casey Stengel next season.

Cage Tourney Nets $716 for Westfall Club

The Westfall Booster Club made a profit of $716.09 from the Holiday Cage tournament at the Pickaway County Fairgrounds this year, according to club spokesmen.

Also reported at the meeting was a profit of $628.92 from the Pumpkin Show booth. The treasury balance reported was $1,974.24.

The Boosters are to pay $1,000 toward the balance of a bill for football equipment.

A representative of a sporting goods firm in Columbus, showed football game uniforms and quoted prices. Shirts will cost from $10.05 to $12.55. Pants were priced from $5.95 up.

The club was also presented articles of incorporation, drawn up by Richard Penn and filed in the office of the secretary of state Dec. 23, 1963.

Michigan Kegler High in Tourney

DALLAS (AP) — Joe Joseph, a wise-cracking pro from Lansing, Mich., won the qualifying trophy at the $100,000 All-Star bowling tournament Tuesday night with a 32-game total of 6915.

Joseph was lurking in sixth place after the first round of semifinals early Tuesday. He sprinted into the lead in the final round by firing a 214-214-226-264-214-192-1324 series.

Ted Hoffman, Jr., a burly young Philadelphia bowler who took the lead after the first semifinal block, dipped to third place after a modest 1240 series in the last qualifying round.

Mike Chiucholo of Patchogue, L.I., N.Y., moved up to second place on the final squad with 1301-6910.

2 More Reds Sign Contracts for 1964

CINCINNATI (AP) — Shortstop Leo Cardenas and catcher Hal Smith were among five players to sign 1964 contracts with the Cincinnati Reds Tuesday. Cardenas batted .235 last season. Smith was picked up as a free agent.

Others signed were southpaw pitcher John Flavin, shortstop Tommy Helms and catcher Larry Himes.

CHS Tigers Meet Two Panthers in Week's Cage Tilts

The Circleville Tigers meet a pair of Panthers this week-end when they host Pleasant View Friday and travel to Miami Trace Saturday in South Central Ohio League competition.

The Pleasant View Panthers are the current loop leaders, boasting a perfect 7-0 record against other SCO schools. They tasted defeat for the first time this season when they came out on the short end of a 51-50 decision at Teays Valley Saturday.

In the opening game of the league schedule, the Pleasant View quintet had little difficulty in posting a 64-31 decision over the Tigers.

In league play they hold a two-game edge over second place Hillsboro as they begin the second round of competition. This top showing gives the Robert Brickels coached squad plenty of incentive to come up with a win on Friday.

IN THIS WEEK'S ASSOCIATED PRESS poll, Pleasant View was ranked in the top 20 Class AA high school basketball teams in the state.

The Pleasant View coach is the son of the director of athletics at Miami University, at Oxford, John L. Brickels.

The green and white Panthers are paced by 6-foot 4-inch George Fannin, a junior pivot man. He has scored 147 points in league competition and ranks second only to Hillsboro's Fred Cluff in this department.

The controlled offense of the Pleasant View squad revolves around Tad Lamb, a 5-9 veteran guard. The main strength of the Panthers has been their sticky defense.

Then on the next night the Tigers will face the Black Panthers of Miami Trace — a team that posted an 87-77 win over Circleville in a previous meeting this year.

Trace has one of the league's leading scorers in Pirley Harris who has 138 points, against SCO opponents.

MIAMI TRACE, defending champions, is out of the league race. Only Circleville has a poorer record in the loop.

Resting in seventh place, the Black Panthers have won two, while dropping five. Their overall record is three wins against eight losses.

John Thomas took over the scoring lead for Circleville last week with a 25-point production at Wilmington. This brings his total for 12 games to 175 markers.

His last week's total was a new high for a Tiger cager this season. In the league, he ranks third in total points with 140.

Tom Smith has 170 points for the year and Bob Purcell has come up with 118 as the third leading scorer. In the winning effort this year, the Tigers edged Franklin Heights, 57-55.

Elsewhere around the league Friday, Hillsboro will be out to break Greenfield McClain's homegame winning streak. Washington C. H. is at Wilmington and Miami Trace is at Franklin Heights.

On Saturday Pleasant View will get a shot at McClain in the tiny Greenfield gymnasium and Washington C. H. will attempt to break host Teays Valley's domination of SCO teams. Wilmington, Franklin Heights and Hillsboro are idle.

Don Heffner, Mel Harder and Wes Westrum will coach under Met Manager Casey Stengel next season.

Junior High Wins; Frosh Are Downed

The Circleville freshmen and junior high basketball teams split a twin cage bill last night with Lancaster Ewing teams at the Lancaster school.

The junior high won the first tilt, 36-25. The Tiger frosh were behind all the way to lose 63-47.

Steve Dade paced the winning Red and Black aggregation, scoring 17 points. Bob Walisa contributed eight markers and helped control rebounding for the Tiny Tigers.

The score was 9-2, 16-5 and 25-15 at the quarter breaks with Circleville on the top all the way.

IN THE FROSH game the Red and Black unit was behind one point at the end of the first six minutes of play. By halftime the visitors had widened the margin to 28-23 and as the final period began led 40-31.

Joe Winner and Bill Moss teamed up with ten markers each for Circleville while Noel of Ewing earned game honors with a 19 point production.

The Ewing frosh used a man to man pressing defense throughout the entire game, forcing the Tigers into several turnovers.

The Tiger frosh have a 3-7 record for the season while the eighth graders are 4-3.

Tomorrow night Lancaster Ewing plays in the Circleville gymnasium in a return match.

2 Michigan Cagers Get Top Ratings

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Cazzie Russell and Bill Buntin, the one-two punch for the Michigan Wolverines, are high up in college basketball's current All-America check list.

They demonstrated their ability again Tuesday night as the Wolverines whipped Minnesota 80-66 and took another step towards their first Big Ten championship in 16 years.

Russell threw in 25 points and Buntin added 23 as the Wolverines, second-ranked nationally in The Associated Press' poll, rolled to their fourth straight league triumph and 13th victory in 14 starts over-all.

The way they are going the Wolverines may finish with a perfect 14-0 mark in league play in contrast to their first year in Big Ten basketball, back in 1918, when they didn't win a league game. In fact their only defeat this campaign came at the hands of unbeaten UCLA, top-ranked in The AP poll.

Playing at home, Michigan was the only team in The AP's Top Ten to see action Tuesday as the mid-season exam lull continued.

Don Heffner, Mel Harder and Wes Westrum will coach under Met Manager Casey Stengel next season.

Michigan Kegler High in Tourney

DALLAS (AP) — Joe Joseph, a wise-cracking pro from Lansing, Mich., won the qualifying trophy at the $100,000 All-Star bowling tournament Tuesday night with a 32-game total of 6915.

Joseph was lurking in sixth place after the first round of semifinals early Tuesday. He sprinted into the lead in the final round by firing a 214-214-226-264-214-192-1324 series.

Ted Hoffman, Jr., a burly young Philadelphia bowler who took the lead after the first semifinal block, dipped to third place after a modest 1240 series in the last qualifying round.

Mike Chiuchiolio of Patchogue, L.I., N.Y., moved up to second place on the final squad with 1301-6910.

2 More Reds Sign Contracts for 1964

CINCINNATI (AP) — Shortstop Leo Cardenas and catcher Hal Smith were among five players to sign 1964 contracts with the Cincinnati Reds Tuesday. Cardenas batted .235 last season. Smith was picked up as a free agent.

Others signed were southpaw pitcher John Flavin, shortstop Tommy Helms and catcher Larry Himes.

Ring Promoter Moans As Jim Brown Says 'No'

NEW YORK (AP)—The big wide-shouldered giant in the three-button Ivy League suit and said:

"The offer still goes, Jimmy."

"No thanks," replied Jimmy Brown, "I'll stick with football."

Winter Olympic Chiefs Issue Go-Slow Warning

INNSBRUCK, Austria (AP)—First it was no snow. Now it's go slow.

That's the situation at the site of the Olympic Games, where this warning has been issued to competitors beginning to reach their peak:

"Please take it easy. It is better to reach the end of the run in a slow time than to finish up in a hospital."

And as more and more of the world's top skiers, skaters and sledders converge on Innsbruck, more and more hospital beds are being used, and more and more optimistic platitudes are coming from the assembled coaches — especially the Americans.

Said Bob Beattie, U.S. ski coach:

"We feel we are going into the Olympics in the best possible shape. Things are going very well."

Said Art Togle, U.S. ski jumping coach:

"We have men of international stature. We'll win some medals."

Said U.S. bobsledder Bob Hickey:

"We'll do better."

Hickey, of Keeseville, N.Y., piloted one of two American sleds Tuesday as practice began for the four-man championships at the Games, which open a week from today. His optimistic forecast was made after the first U.S. performances proved unimpressive.

Hickey piloted the No. 1 U.S. sled with mates Bill Dundon of Brownsville, N.Y., Reginald Benham of Lake Placid, N.Y., and brakeman Charles Pandolph of Saranac Lake, N.Y. The crew placed 15th in the trials with a clocking of 2 minutes, 14.4 seconds for two runs.

The U.S. No. 2 sled came through with a slightly better performance. Piloted by Lawrence McKillip of Saranac Lake, with brakeman James Lamy of Lake Placid and Floyd Baumgartner and Roger Neil, both of Saranac Lake, the bob finished 12th in 2:11.82.

Italy's eight-time world champion, Eugenio Monti, turned in the best runs, flashing down the approximately one-mile track at Mount Patzschkofel in 2:09.15 with the day's best run of 1:04.34 on his second descent.

The Cleveland Indians hit into 105 double plays last season. The Yankees had the best record in the American League, grounding into only 91 twin killings.

An Illinois field goal attempt backfired last season and Harold Wells of Purdue picked up the pigskin and dashed 62 yards for a touchdown.

Rothschild the other night.

"He is the most wonderfully coordinated athlete I've ever seen, and I've seen such great athletes as Sugar Ray Robinson, Bob Cousy, Elgin Baylor, Jackie Robinson and plenty of others," said Rothschild.

"I watched Brown play football, lacrosse and basketball in his college days at Syracuse and I've seen him play often with the Cleveland Browns. And he's the best. I was convinced he could become the heavyweight champion before Sonny Liston won it and I think he would have a great chance to win it in three years even if he turned to boxing at 28."

Brown, the great fullback and record rusher of the National Football League, becomes 28 on Feb. 17. He was an All-America in lacrosse as well as football at Syracuse before turning pro with the Browns in 1957.

"I told Jimmy eight years ago I would hire the outstanding boxing instructor to handle him and that I would keep him in the gym for six months to a year," said Rothschild. "I still would do it that way. Then I'd take him on a tour of small clubs. It would revive boxing all over the country. Then I'd put him on closed circuit television when he was ready for his first big fight."

"You know, I think in six months he could beat Cassius Clay. And, another thing, I could set up a syndicate to back him for a million bucks within 30 days by selling shares for $5,000. They formed a syndicate of businessmen in Louisville for Clay and I could do it easily for Brown. The only thing is Jimmy keeps saying no."

Brown earns about $60,000 a year, including his salary with the Browns and his outside activities. He has won the NFL's rushing title in six of his seven years and last season became the first to run for more than a mile in a regular season when he piled up 1,863 yards.

How about fighting Liston? "That man," replied Jimmy. "You've got to be out of your mind. I'd rather play three straight days against the Giants, Bears and Packers than to get in the ring with him."

"Five million bucks down the drain," said Rothschild with a shake of his head.

Dayton '5' Is Swamped By Seattle

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Dayton's Flyers switched from a zone to a man-for-man defense Tuesday night in a futile bid to stop the Seattle Chiefs, but it made no difference as Seattle claimed an 80-63 basketball victory.

Dayton was behind 10-0 before Chuck Izor finally broke the ice with a field goal, but even then the contest had been decided for all practical purposes. The Chiefs led 38-20 at the half in the contest played at Seattle. Henry (Hank) Finkel had 17 points for the Flyers. He fouled out with nine minutes to play.

Only three other games involving Ohio teams were played Tuesday night.

Mount Union tried ball control tactics and threw a scare into Akron, but the Zips wound up on top 31-22. The winners were ahead at the half 14-11 in the slow game. Dave Evans with 14 was high scorer for Akron. John Dickerson had 12 for the Purple Raiders.

In other games, Baldwin-Wallace downed Hiram 85-76 in an Ohio Conference fray, and Rio Grande traveled to Grayson, Ky., to spill Kentucky Christian 121-87.

Tourney Set At Monroe

The Monroe Twp. Alumni will sponsor an invitational basketball tournament for class A independent teams, it was announced by Kenneth E. Reid.

The tourney is scheduled to be held in the Monroe Twp. gymnasium beginning Feb. 10. Entry deadline is Feb. 1.

The drawing for the event will be held Feb. 9 at the school. Teams interested in entering the event may contact Reid by phoning Mt. Sterling 1610M, or writing him at Route 1, Williamsport.

Maury Wills of the Dodgers stole only 40 bases in 1963, as compared with 104 in 1962.

Rip Van Winkle couldn't sleep with nagging backache

Now! You can get the fast relief you need from nagging backache, headache and muscular aches and pains that often cause restless nights and miserable tired-out feelings. When these discomforts come on with over-exertion or stress and strain — you want relief — want it fast! Another disturbance may be mild bladder irritation following wrong food and drink — often setting up a restless uncomfortable feeling.

Doan's Pills work fast in 3 separate ways: 1. by speedy pain-relieving action to ease torment of nagging backache, headaches, muscular aches and pains. 2. by soothing effect on bladder irritation. 3. by mild diuretic action tending to increase output of the 15 miles of kidney tubes.

Enjoy a good night's sleep and the same happy relief millions have for over 60 years. For convenience, ask for the large size. Get Doan's Pills today!

Councilmen Act On 2 Ordinances

City Council approved two of three ordinances submitted to the clerk's desk during last night's regular session.

One of the affirmed measures authorized the levy of special assessments for the construction of certain curbs and gutters in the Circle Drive-Markley Road area. The other provides for the city's safety director to advertise for bids for the purchase of two new police cruisers.

A third ordinance, one seeking to change the name of N. Nicholas Drive, failed to gain introduction and was referred to the service committee for additional study.

The curbs and gutters ordinance is a continuation of legislation initiated by the 1963 Council. Solicitor Kenneth Robbins explained that the facilities have been installed and that all but three or four of the property owners concerned have paid for the costs.

HE SAID this latest ordinance will authorize these three or four owners to have the costs assessed against their property and be collected during regular and periodic tax payments.

It was pointed out that the original cost of the unpaid facilities was provided for out of the city's general fund. Reimbursement will be through collection of the assessments.

The ordinance was passed on a 6-0 count. Councilman Boyd Horn, terming himself a neutral in the matter, refused to vote.

According to provisions of the ordinance, total assessments against each lot or parcel of land is payable in cash within 30 days or at the option of the owner in five annual installments, with interest at the same rate borne by bonds to be issued in anticipation of payment.

The police cruiser bid will include trade-in allowances for two 1962 model police cars.

During the portion of the meeting devoted to reports, Fire Lt. Noble Barr disclosed the department has conducted 159 inspections of public buildings in the downtown area. He said deficiencies were pointed out in 34 cases.

LT. BARR said corrective measures have already been taken in most cases. He explained that Chief Bernard Wolfe has scheduled such inspections every six months.

Councilman John Jenkins, along with Chief Robert Temple, commented on the need for a civil service examination for policemen. Temple said he will have four men available to take the test when one is scheduled.

Ervin Leist, public utilities manager, said a civil service examination also is needed for his water and sewage departments. Mayor Ben Gordon reported that a major inspection and repair program for City Service Department equipment is under way.

In other action, the solons confirmed the reappointment of Mrs. Ruth Wignall as a member of the Circleville Board of Health.

Parents File Protests in Paddling Case

CLEVELAND (AP)—The parents of two students at Solon High School have protested the alleged paddling of their children by the wrestling coach.

The boys—Richard A. Moore, 16, and Kenneth Ballard, 17—say they were paddled Monday after Coach Robert Radel accused them of breaking a towel rack from the wall in the boys' rest room.

Asked to comment Tuesday night on the alleged incident, Radel said, "You'll have to talk to the superintendent."

The Moore boy said he was struck 13 times with a board and the Ballard boy said he was struck six times.

Mrs. Ballard said she and Mr. and Mrs. John T. Moore, Richard's parents, would attend the School Board meeting Monday to protest the severity of the punishment.

School Supt. John Mayor held a special administrative meeting Tuesday night to discuss the situation.

The paddling reportedly was witnessed by another teacher, Ralph White, Solon football coach.

Volunteer Fireman Accused as Firebug

HAMILTON, Ohio (AP)—A former New Miami volunteer fireman William Joseph Fox, 23, was committed Tuesday to Lima State Hospital. Authorities said he admitted setting 16 fires in barns and abandoned houses in the New Miami area.

Today in Washington

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS WASHINGTON (AP)—In the news from Washington:

TIMETABLE: With its eyes on the summer dates for the national political conventions, the House Appropriations Committee has drafted a timetable to get all the annual money bills through the House early in June.

If the schedule is followed, appropriations action, as far as the House is concerned, will be six months ahead of last year's slowdown record.

LIBRARY FUNDS: The House beat back a Republican attack and passed a bill Tuesday to extend federal library aid to urban areas.

The bill would continue a program begun in 1956 to bring library services to areas without them. The original measure was limited to communities of less than 10,000 population.

DISPUTE: The United States has accepted a Philippine proposal for patching up the dispute between this country and Cambodia, officials reported Tuesday night.

Details of the Philippine mediation proposal were not disclosed. It was not known here whether Prince Norodom Sihanouk had accepted the plan.

OSWALD'S WIDOW: The Warren Commission investigating the assassination of John F. Kennedy has announced it will take testimony from the widow of Lee Oswald, the man who had been charged with killing him.

The commission is understood to want to learn as much as it can about the former Marine and avowed Marxist, particularly about his movements Nov. 22, the day the president was shot to death in Dallas.

HOUSING: President Johnson has endorsed plans for a national education program aimed at making it easier for Negroes to move into white neighborhoods.

The program will be carried out with enforcement of the executive order against discrimination in federally assisted housing.

One Day Delay On Grade Cards

Grade cards for grades 8 through 12 in Circleville schools will be handed out this Thursday instead of Wednesday, it was announced today by school officials.

The one day delay was caused by the closing of schools on Jan. 13 due to heavy snow. The shutdown forced the examination schedule back one day.

Grade cards for elementary students are scheduled for distribution today as usual.

OU Trustees Study Belmont County Site

ATHENS, Ohio (AP)—Ohio University's Board of Trustees will inspect two proposed sites for a branch campus in Belmont County.

The county commissioners have offered to provide a 270-acre site near St. Clairsville, and Martins Ferry has offered an 80-acre plot overlooking that city. Ohio U. now operates a branch at Martins Ferry High School which provides evening classes.

CHECKING REGISTRATIONS — Board of Election workers are continually checking voters' registrations to see that all are up to date. Here Mrs. Betty McGinnis (left) and Mrs. Thelma Trimmer, board clerk, are checking registration files in preparation for the May primary election.

Voter Registration Pushed

Large Choice of Candidates Looms for Primary Election

Pickaway County voters will have one of their largest choices of local government candidates in recent history when they go to the polls in May.

With Feb. 5 scheduled as the deadline for candidates to file their declaration petitions, at least 10 persons are seeking nominations for county commissioner, eight are circulating petitions for state representative and four persons have shown interest in the clerk of courts position. Other offices to be voted on include common pleas judge, sheriff, recorder, treasurer, coroner and engineer.

Board of Election officials in view of the large slate of candidates, are conducting a campaign to get all voters registered and to get obsolete registrations brought up to date.

Since registration first went into effect here in 1961, many persons show up at the polls on election day and are "turned away because they were not registered or because their registrations had been cancelled for various reasons."

THE Board of Elections is expecting a heavy turnout of voters in May. "The percentage of voters to be turned away will undoubtedly increase unless an all out effort is made to get these voters' registrations in good standing," officials stated. Anyone in doubt as to their registration standing is urged to call or visit the Board of Elections office in the basement of the Courthouse.

When registration went into effect here in 1960, a total of 12,860 persons voted in the November election... the highest number of voters to cast ballots in the history of Pickaway County. The second greatest number of votes was counted here in 1956 with 11,690.

Registration reached its peak here in 1962 with 14,103 eligible voters on record. However, current registration numbers slightly more than 13,000.

Pickaway County's population is in excess of 35,000 and election officials approximate that qualified voters could be near 19,000 if all residents over 21 were registered.

Reasons registrations have been cancelled were listed to day by the board. Some of them are: a change in name, such as a woman becoming married since she first registered; change in address; and if a voter hasn't exercised his right to vote within a two-year period, registration is automatically cancelled.

WORKERS are continually keeping registration files up to date and mailing notices to voters whose registration has been cancelled. In most cases, a post card is mailed to the registrant and his registration may be reinstated by completing the card and returning it.

The board emphasized that "a qualified voter must be registered in the precinct of his residence."

Persons who will reach their 21st birthdays anytime before Nov. 3 may register now and vote in both the May primary and the November general election.

Board members said disabled persons may be registered and vote at home by contacting the office at their earliest convenience.

Registration closes Mar. 25 and voters are urged to make certain they will be permitted to vote in May by registering or checking to see that their registration is in "good order."

Railroads Plan To Delay Elimination of Firemen

CLEVELAND (AP)—The nation's railroads, which won a federal arbitration award eliminating firemen's jobs on diesel freight locomotives, will delay putting the award into effect pending a union appeal.

The Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen & Enginemen said the railroads have agreed to delay application of the arbitration award, which was to have gone into effect Saturday.

H. E. Gilbert, president of the rail union, said the agreement signed Tuesday specifies that if the courts uphold the award it then will go into effect, remaining in effect for two years, as specified by the seven-member arbitration board Nov. 62. The brotherhood and two other rail unions have filed legal actions. A lower court upheld the award, but the unions have taken steps to appeal that ruling.

A spokesman for the brotherhood said some 3,500 firemen recently hired or who had been working irregularly will be cut off immediately when the railroads put the job-cutting program into effect.

Some 30,000 jobs theoretically are involved, he said, but since the bulk of the jobs are to be eliminated as they are vacated—by retirement, resignation or death—the two-year span will not allow elimination of that many posts.

The unions charge that the rights of their members were violated when congress set up the compulsory arbitration procedure.

J. W. Wolfe, chief negotiator for the railroads, said in Washington that Tuesday's agreement delays action on the firemen issue but noted that Jan. 25 will still be the cutoff date for determining who will be laid off. Those firemen with less than the required seniority as of Jan. 25 are the ones who will be affected, he said.

He said also the carriers will go ahead as scheduled with new rules governing the size of crews on Jan. 25. This issue also was settled by the arbitration board, but under terms of that award the unions may challenge any reductions on a local basis and force the issue to arbitration.

District Governor Is Lions Speaker

A district Lions officer was guest speaker yesterday evening for a dinner meeting of the Circleville Lions Club at the Wardell Party Home.

Kirby Wheeler, governor of District 13 B, spoke to the group on "Lionism and its Assets" following the dinner.

Everett Funk reported that he had given eye examinations to 216 students at Ashville Elementary School and that 42 were referred to a doctor for further examination. He also tested 278 students at Teays Valley High School and 20 were referred for another examination.

Guests during the meeting, in addition to Wheeler, were Dr. William Speakman and Lowell Ferguson.

Summer Jobs Offered by Civil Service

Summer employment for teachers and college students is being offered by the Municipal Civil Service Commission, Columbus.

Students and teachers planning to take summer courses at Columbus universities may be especially interested in applying for positions as recreation playground leaders on municipal playgrounds.

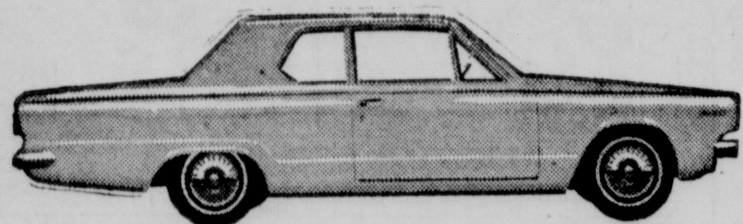

A playground leader's workday begins at noon and continues until dark. Typical tasks include instructions in athletics, instruction in arts and crafts, leadership of quiet games, and other general playground activities. The salary schedule ranges from $269 to $327 per month. Advancements in pay are realized each season.

Applications are being accepted in the offices of the Municipal Civil Service Commission through Feb. 6. Examinations will be conducted on Feb. 8.

Those interested should file in person with the Columbus Civil Service Commission, 67 N. Front Street, (3rd floor, City Hall Annex), Gay and Front Sts.

Commission offices will be open all day, Jan. 25 and Feb. 1, especially for those who want to file for these positions.
